Key budget decisions tonight and tomorrow

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

The Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant's $2.5 million budget may be the focus of the City Council's open budget caucus at the City Hall tonight, when aldermen will have their first chance to collectively fine-tune the city's projected total budget of $11.2 million.

Prior to tonight's 7 o'clock session, City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic and the council's finance committee have been conducting individual meetings with all department heads and aldermanic committees. The budget will guide municipal spending in the May 1982-April 1983 year.

Tomorrow, a public hearing on the budget will be conducted at 7 p.m. at the Granite City Township Hall, followed at 8 p.m. by a council meeting. With only $10.9 million in revenues projected to finance $11.2 million in expenditures, the complete budget remains out of balance despite concerted efforts to maximize income and limit or delay costs.

The detailed budget released to aldermen last week calls for issuance of a total of $440,000 in tax anticipation warrants and projects a deficit of $340,000 for the fiscal year. Miklovic says the budget corresponds closely with last year's expenditures and leaves little room for change tonight or Tuesday.

Sixty percent of the total is locked into salaries, with payroll taxes and fringe benefits bringing the overall personnel expense figure to about 75 percent of the $11.2 million, he said.

No salary increases are being proposed for this budget year. Further layoffs are not expected, although the impact of other municipalities suddenly withdrawing from the Granite City ambulance service is currently an unknown factor in that department's outlook.

There are no provisions in the budget at this time for the return of a combination engineering, inspection and air to waste $700,000 from last year's $1.3 million, could become the center of the budget review, since the higher amount is tied to higher rates.

Increased residential, commercial and industrial treatment charges are expected to be necessary to support the plant's budget. The proposed budget allocates $175,000 to fund bond reserves, required for the plant's construction bonds. The city has been notified by bondholders that the bonds are in technical default.

The bondholders have warned that continued failure to properly fund the reserves could result in a poor credit rating for the city, making any further bond programs difficult.

A controversial addition to the wastewater plant's budget is $500,000 for a federal recovery set-aside program, intended to offset the drained by the city's payroll, or from money left over from the 19th Street overpass fund, although about half of that $400,000 has been used to support the general fund.

Aldermen are once again being requested to draw up a capital improvements "wish list" to be financed from those accounts.

On Tuesday, June 1, a public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. at the township hall on proposed uses of the shared revenue.

Jury thinks up to 90% of students have abused drugs

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Madison County grand jurors said Thursday they believe 70 percent to 90 percent of high school students in Madison County have used marijuana, which is illegal, and that half of the users have serious problems.

In its final report, the jury that has been studying drug abuse by young people indicated it feels illicit drug consumption, especially marijuana (cannabis) and alcohol, has reached epidemic proportions.

It is worried that 35 to 45 percent of present high school students may be suffering from "a serious cannabis problem."

The jury issued a separate "open letter" to students, telling them it favors a continuing spotlight on drug trafficking and use, with surprise drug searches continuing. It urged that teenagers cooperate because drug abuse can harm their physical well-being and their emotional and social development.

Police dogs have been used to sniff for marijuana in school lockers. A few lockers have been singled out by the dogs at each high school visited, but none contained drugs at the time they were opened by authorities.

Two drug indictments during the grand jury's investigation, naming a Granite Cityan and an Alton man, are said to be somewhat related to the investigation centering on schools. Testimony was taken from students, school officials and others, prompting jurors to conclude that student marijuana users "apparently have little fear of the consequences of such actions."

The jury believes marijuana is smoked only rarely inside school buildings, but that it and other drugs are often used on school grounds, in parking lots, at smoking areas and in nearby businesses.

Although some school administrators treat drug use as an internal problem and do not report it to police, many others do seek police involvement whenever there is a suspected law violation, it was noted.

The jury commented, "it would appear that those schools which seek police involvement are better able to control the problem than those which do not."

Even when police are brought in, sentences for those schools which seek police involvement are better able to control the problem than those which do not.

proposing more severe sentences for convicted offenders.

Urging a "change in public attitude" toward the drug problem, the jury called on the Madison County Board to enact an ordinance restricting sale of drug-related paraphernalia.

"Virtually everyone is aware of the dangers of drugs," the jury related. "Virtually everyone is in favor of strict drug laws and strict enforcement of these laws."

The panel urged parents to be more alert for indications of drug use, including sudden changes in grades, school attendance or discipline; changes in friends and associates; and withdrawal from one's family.

It suggested that parents seek help from school officials, clergymen, drug counselors and others when drug use is suspected.

their petition against drugs in schools, now that it has been brought to the public's attention.

"We urge all people to change their attitudes or make their actions reflect their attitudes, and to work together to stop the use of and trafficking in illicit drugs on the campuses of Madison County schools."

What could or should typical parents do about children's drug activities? The panel urged parents to be more alert for indications of drug use, including sudden changes in grades, school attendance or discipline; changes in friends and associates; and withdrawal from one's family.

It suggested that parents seek help from school officials, clergymen, drug counselors and others when drug use is suspected.

Jurors said schools should not only cooperate with police but also establish clearly-defined drug policies, close campuses to non-students, and monitor students more closely.

They asked for lounging areas, parking lots and other school gathering places to be closely supervised against drug sales and use, and that they be closed to all outsiders.

The jury proposed that, at the beginning of each school year, school authorities require students to sign consent forms for searches of lockers and automobiles. Periodic, unannounced-in-advance searches of lockers and parking lots were recommended.

Active for the past four months, the grand jury had started looking into drug activity on its own initiative and

Partney exonerated by county and state

"Daniel Partney, former mayor candidate who is retiring this year from the Madison County Board, has been cleared and faces no local, county or state governmental attention regarding campaign gifts."

State's Attorney Donald W. Weber says it will be up to federal officials to pursue Thomas R. Brimberry's allegation that Brimberry gave many thousands of dollars to Partney when the latter was running for mayor.

Brimberry, who built a nearly million-dollar home on Westmoreland Drive, is awaiting possible federal prosecution in the collapse of the Stix & Co. stock brokerage last fall.

No one has been charged in the Stix case but indictments are expected. Brimberry is to be permitted to plead to one felony tax charge—in return for cooperating with investigators as they sort out the complicated stock transactions.

Partney, a lifelong Granite Cityan long active in politics, says Brimberry gave his campaign fund $500, the amount Partney reported in a list of contributions.

The County Board member commented during the weekend that he is not surprised to learn Weber has little fear of the consequences of such actions.

Jury active, respectful

By EDGURNEY

One of the busiest grand juries in Madison County in recent years ended its four-month term Thursday, but it may live on through the summer.

Curry said those who served are going to reactivate the grand jury association, although he is not sure when the association will do.

He knows something else he will do. A public speaker, Curry said he will concentrate now on the need for citizen involvement in the community.

"I'm convinced that the police cannot enforce the laws unless the majority feel they should. The majority is in a direction in which most people aren't law-abiding."

There was some controversy when State's Attorney Don Weber asked that the term of the grand jury be extended from 12 to 18 months, according to Jerry Lipchik, chief bailiff. "This grand jury has been needed more than most," Lipchik said.

Jurors appeal for youths' cooperation

"An open letter to the students of Madison County" was issued Thursday by a Madison County grand jury whose foreman was Phil M. Curry of Glen Carbon. The jury was sworn in Jan. 26 and concluded its session last week.

"We, the grand jury of Madison County, have initiated an effort to eliminate the use of drugs by students of the schools in Madison County," the letter related.

"We feel that this is—and should continue to be—a top priority of the grand jury, along with the entire community."

"We were not out to see how many kids we could catch using 'pot.' Most of you knew that drugs would be brought in to your schools; the question was 'When? We gave you plenty of time to clean up your lockers."

"Our purpose was—and will continue to be—focusing on the drug problem, and making you especially aware of the legal penalties involved in the use of drugs."

"We will recommend that the searches continue without advance warning, and that efforts are increased to eliminate the use of drugs on parking lots and adjacent areas."

"We feel that the use of drugs by you, the young people of Madison County, is harmful—not only to your physical well-being but also to your emotional and social development."

"We ask for your support and cooperation in eliminating the drug problem in Madison County," the letter to students concluded.

$100,000 typical bingo profit? Robbery victim is shot

(Second of three articles)

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

What might it be? It's a bingo night in Madison County, and one need not look at the calendar to verify it: the Illinois Legislative Investigative Commission says there is bingo here virtually 365 nights a year.

A newly-completed study reveals that some groups in this county net considerably more than $100,000 a year from their one-night-a-week games, which were legalized in Illinois in 1971. In its April 15, 1982, report to the General Assembly, the commission says, "the hall at No. 17 Nameoki Village Shopping Center is the bingo home for seven area organizations, one playing every night of the week. Organizations pay a total of $300 per bingo session, including $185 to the owner of the building for rent."

"The other $140 goes to the Disabled Veterans of Granite City, 1417 Nineteenth St., which holds the provider's license and also plays bingo at the hall."

"Such payments include provision for janitorial services, building maintenance and rental of chairs and equipment belonging to both the Veterans and another Nameoki Village bingo licensee, the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City, 1801 Spruce St."

"According to Dorothy Robles, MHC bingo treasurer, each of the seven office of Mayor Paul Schuler is in Joseph Parente, a city planner. He is encouraging carnival games to purchase, their ride tickets from specially-marked Granite City Center tickets, the festival area. Ticket offered for sale by downtown stores also will benefit the Center."

Overfest '82 will be Parente's final assignment as city planner here before

Don Anderson, 42, of Edwardsville, operator of the Mark's Service Station, 320 Madison Ave., Madison, was admitted to the intensive care unit (ICU) of St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 12:30 a.m. today in fair condition, suffering from a gunshot wound to the upper right part of his chest.

Two men described as black males in their 20s are believed to have shot Anderson during an armed robbery at the station.

A police spokesman said the silent alert at the service station sounded at 12:17 a.m. today and police went immediately to the scene and saw Anderson staggering outside.

Anderson struggled with the men, however the exact reason for the shooting and the amount of money taken, if any, are not known, as police have been unable to get a statement from Anderson at this time. The bullet is thought to be a .38-caliber or larger.

'Overfest' to open Wednesday

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Ethnic food lovers, carnival enthusiasts and bargain hunters will have their choice of delights when Overfest '82, "A Taste of Granite City," officially opens Wednesday morning. It will continue through the Memorial Day weekend and end Monday night.

The festival is a grand-scale, fundraising "block party" for the downtown area, renamed the Granite City Center.

The Center will benefit from a percentage of carnival ticket sales made by merchants, and the group plans to use the funds to redevelop the downtown business district, where the event will be held.

Ethnic food booths and carnival rides will be set up on Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues and on 19th Street, the street selected this year for the heart of the event.

In-school suspension at Madison schools

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record
A plan for in-school suspension is to be drawn up for the Madison School Board and to be put into effect for the 1982-83 school year, it was decided by school board members last week.

Board Member Mrs. Billie Bosworth said she attended a seminar in Belleville at which such suspensions were discussed and it seems to have worked very well in keeping delinquent-type children from roaming the streets.

Now, when a student is suspended from school for a discipline problem, the student, in most cases, is allowed by the parents to run the streets.

Under an in-school suspension, the problem student would be suspended from all regular school classes and activities, but would be required by law to report to school.

Details of staffing, rooms to use and other administrative problems are being studied by the administration for a recommendation at the next board meeting.

The in-school suspension would probably apply only to the Madison High School and Middle School.

In other business, a report was made on student and teacher interest in offering some summer school classes.

Only seven students indictated they plan to attend summer school and it was reported that only two teachers are interested in teaching summer school.

Board Member Ed Dohal said, "I want to compliment everyone who had anything to do with the cleaning up of the area out by the high school. It is beginning to look good."

The board instructed the administration to have Eldon Rhoads, maintenance superintendent for the district, to evaluate the performance of all custodians.

Board President Sam Dymas asked Superintendent John Patchett to contact the Triad, Edwardsville, DuPont, Granite City and Venice school district and find out what policies the various districts have for sending athletic coaches to various state tournaments.

The board approved rehiring two second-year teachers, Susan Boenlein, social worker, and Terry Beer, an art teacher.

The board is delaying contacting the five first-year teachers until a determination can be made on the enrollment for next year.

The board also approved: advertising for typewriter bids; advertising for bids on the gasoline for the tanks at the Madison High school; accepted the proposal for photos submitted by Hollywood Andrews Studios and place all current substitute teachers on the list for next year.

Rehire 3 dismissed GC faculty

Continuing to rehire some of the teachers honorably dismissed for the 1982-83 year, the Granite City Board of Education last week made three hiring decisions.

Ruth Klaus will teach speech at South High, Larry Lippe will teach art at Fraher Junior High and Shirley Stroud will teach journalism at North High.

Honorable dismissals of teachers with the least seniority were announced this spring due to enrollment declines and financial problems. As retirements and resignations occur, some of those dismissed are then rehired.

Retirements approved Tuesday night effective in June included those of Leonard E. Hays, a Niedringhaus School upper intermediate teacher, and Arnold Staton, a Fraher custodian.

Leaves of absence were granted to: L. Isabel Hudgins, a Lake School lower primary teacher, due to personal illness; and Colleen June Ellis, a Coolidge Junior High custodian, due to family illness.

After one of two executive sessions during its more than five-hour meeting, the School Board decided to continue paying for a student being taught at an out-of-state facility, on the basis of charges approved by the Illinois governor's special education cost review board.

In another matter, the board sustained a hearing officer's recommendation that a student be suspended due to disrespectful conduct.

Continuing a curriculum review series, the board conferred with Mrs. Phyllis Wiggins, a Lake School fourth grade teacher, and Mrs. Carla Ashmore, a Johnson School fifth grade teacher, on intermediate level class offerings and educational objectives.

It was decided to continue a summer work program under an agreement with the Madison County Office of Manpower Development.

Goal is to provide work experiences for disadvantaged students, who will be assigned to offices and high school book rooms in the district. The students will be paid through the U.S. Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Senate endorses higher interest energy bonds

Legislation which will allow the interest ceiling on bonds sold to finance the Coal and Energy Development Bond Program to be raised has been overwhelmingly passed out of the Senate, according to Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), chief sponsor of the bill.

Currently, the bonds are specifically limited to a 7 percent interest rate. "The 7 percent maximum interest rate may have been reasonable in 1974 when the program was established," Vadalabene indicated. "But this year, it renders the bonds unmarketable. SB 1471 will allow these bonds to be sold at prevailing interest rates—a step which must be taken to insure that the state can make its final commitment to present and future coal development projects."

In 1979, the state agreed to contribute $18 million of coal bond funds to the $135 million Kilgus project now under construction at Wood River. Construction began in 1980 and is scheduled to be completed this September.

In order to pay out the $18 million, the state will sell

Coal Development Bonds. Vadalabene indicated that he was very pleased by the response of the Senate to this legislation. He pledged to work closely with members of the House to achieve the same result.

BAC students may stay in McKendree dorms

Through a cooperative effort of Belleville Area College and McKendree College, in Lebanon, BAC students will be able to room in McKendree dorms beginning in the fall 1982 semester.

BAC students will have the option of several plans. A single room will be $535 a semester and a double room will be $570.

One of two meal packages may be selected in conjunction with the room. There will be a standard meal package for $680, which includes three meals a day, seven days a week, or a meal package which excludes lunch Monday through Friday for $420.

Students also will be able to participate in evening and weekend activities at McKendree College for an additional $17.50 a semester.

There is limited space, so early application is advised. For more information, students may contact the BAC Student Activities Office, room 3280 at the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, or call 1-202-2700, extension 205, or contact the McKendree Student Affairs Office, Pearson Hall, McKendree College.

Professional foster care developing here

Recruitment efforts continue for an experimental foster home program being developed as a demonstration project by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services in the counties of Madison, Bond, Clinton, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington.

Anthony Jenkins, regional administrator of the department's East St. Louis region, said the program, called professional foster care, is targeted to provide intensive foster care services to 50 teenagers identified as having moderate to severe behavior problems.

Such problems may include consistent truancy, running away from home, promiscuous sexual activity, and delinquent acts such as shoplifting or trespassing.

Professional foster parents will work closely with department social workers and will care for no more than two teens at any given time.

In addition, department advocates who function as "big brothers" and "big sisters" will visit with participating teenagers on a weekly basis, assisting and relieving the professional foster parents.

Professional foster parents will receive a fee of $18.22 per day for each teenager placed in their home for a maximum of $504 per month per child, Jenkins explained.

He added that $61 per month is mandated by department regulations to be used for each youth's clothing and personal allowance.

In June 1981, the seven-county region had 44 teenagers placed in private residential centers at an average cost of $45 per day.

REELING 'EM IN. Granite City Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis got a taste of the "Classroom" during an outdoor education class at Granite City High School South. The school district administrator lectured and demonstrated his expertise in fishing for the class outside Memorial Gymnasium. Thaps of fishing.

Seek more investigators

Governor James R. Thompson announced last week he will request additional funding in the budget of the Department of Registration and Education for four new medical investigators and two new dental investigators.

In addition, he will request funding levels be increased to make available hearing officers and additional medical review personnel to expedite and assist the State Medical Disciplinary Board and Department of Registration and Education in the last two years. They also will enhance the professional law enforcement direction the department has taken during that time.

He will be requesting $115,000 for the medical investigators and medical review personnel, $50,000 for the dental investigators and $50,000 in contractual services for the hearing officers, to insure hearings are conducted in a timely manner.

The governor pointed out that funding for that position, as well as for all medical and dental investigations conducted by the department, are not appropriated from the General Revenue Fund.

tackle, rods and reels and casting were discussed during the morning and afternoon classes. The students also have learned orienteering (use of the compass) and camping tips which they will put to the test during an upcoming overnight camping trip. This is an experimental class which began with the spring semester this year.

some of those procedures could be implemented in Illinois.

Planning underway for Home Show 1983

The success of Home Show 1982 has prompted officials at Granite City Trust & Savings Bank to decide to host Home Show 1983 next year.

Drew Karandjeff, president of Granite City Trust, commented, "We were thrilled by the tremendous response the home show received and have received numerous requests that we again host the event in 1983. Therefore, we have decided to begin work immediately to make next year's event even bigger and better than this year's home show."

Karandjeff said he is proud of the hard work and many ideas contributed by the employees of the bank and he gave particular praise to Mel Embrich, a vice-president of the bank, who came up with the Home Show 1982 idea and served as its chairman. "He did a tremendous job and worked many hours to assure that things went smoothly," Karandjeff stated.

Home Show 1982 was a three-day event May 14, 15 and 16 in the Wilson Park ice rink. Thousands of persons toured the show each day, viewing the displays at 90 booths set up by local merchants and businesses. It is estimated that between 11,000 and 12,000 persons visited the show during the three days.

Karandjeff also commented, "We would like to thank the Press-Record for its coverage of Home Show 1982. Undoubtedly, a major part in attracting such a large crowd and making the event such a success."

"We are looking forward to Home Show 1983," Karandjeff concluded.

Deputies win 1980 lawsuit

Madison County was notified Monday that a writ of injunction had been issued by U.S. District Judge James Foreman enjoining and restraining the county from paying unequal compensation and benefits to its deputy sheriffs.

The injunction came as the result of a complaint for injunctive and monetary relief filed by attorney Jack Strellis on behalf of 11 non-union deputy sheriffs.

The deputies had claimed that the county refused them equal medical insurance with union deputies.

The lawsuit was filed May 12, 1980. The plaintiffs had alleged that as a result of the exercise of their First Amendment rights, they had received unequal treatment under the law.

The U.S. District court also entered a judgment for back compensation in favor of the deputies. Strellis said the amount averaged about $2,500 for each of the 11.

Those filing the suit were Robert Andrews, Edwardsville; Kelly Hodges Jr., Granite City; K. Richard residents when the suit was filed.

Anderson, Granite City; Randall Lamb, Sarasota, Fla.; Jack Rogers, Granite City; Frank Baczewski, Madison; Thomas Hammond, Madison; Meri Hayden, Madison; Gregory Homer, Las Vegas, Nev.; Steve Nunn, Granite City; and Bradley Crown, since deceased, a former Granite City resident. Lamb and Homer were Granite City

The U.S. District Court found that the deputies had exercised their First Amendment rights in not joining a union, and, that as a result, the county had failed to pay hospitalization and medical premiums for their dependents.

The county has 30 days in which to appeal the judge's

There were 550 posters submitted in Larry's category in a three-county area. Gene Crivello, Lung Association regional director, presents Larry with an engraved plaque.

Realtors urge freeing of surplus U.S. lands

An enterprising and responsible program of selling excess federal land to private citizens is a worthy goal with numerous benefits, Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice-president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors, told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee last week.

—The NAR supports the Reagan administration's program of identifying federal lands that could be better used if put in private ownership and welcomes congressional efforts to enhance that program, Carlson said.

—Among the benefits he outlined were:

- Making possible the highest and best use of property.
- Allowing expansion of cities and towns that now have federal property encroaching on their limits.
- Increasing local tax base.
- Helping to reduce the federal deficit, with the resulting benefit of helping lower interest rates.

—The federal government has allowed many of its real property assets to lie idle, Carlson told the committee. "A native party could not afford to conduct business in this manner—conveying property to the private sector will ensure the highest and best use of the property (because) economic survival demands highest and best use of every asset," he said.

The National Association of Realtors, representing more than 650,000 individuals in all phases of the real estate industry, is ready to assist Congress and the administration in its federal land disposal efforts, Carlson noted. The association presently is instituting a two-stage program of its own to utilize the expertise of its members to identify excess federal property and to help coordinate a responsible disposal program.

Past efforts to dispose of unneeded real property have been woefully inadequate, he said, noting that even though the federal government owns more than 700 million acres of land—one third of the nation's land area—only $62.8 million worth of property was sold in fiscal year 1980.

Free market methods should be utilized to maximize dollar proceeds and minimize the opportunity for unethical transactions.

—Sales should be handled in an orderly manner to protect local real estate markets and government and private interests.

—Private investment in surplus federal property should be encouraged by reducing administrative processing, providing more realistic financing terms, and

Legitimate environmental concerns should be taken into account in the transfer of federal land to private ownership.

Arrest woman in Schnucks

A felony theft warrant was being sought last week against a 23-year-old Collinsville woman who allegedly attempted to leave Schnucks Market, 3801 N. Main St., at 7 p.m. Tuesday after being observed by a security officer placing several items in a camera case.

When security personnel tried to stop the woman, she ran into a restroom and blocked the door which was then pushed open.

A number of items were found in the woman's clothing and bag, including hair coloring, butter, pork chops, peanut butter, mayonnaise and cookies. Salad dressing, snacks and cookies also were discovered in a trash can inside the restroom.

so the drug investigation could continue without the interruption of familiarizing a new group to what had happened. His request was rejected.

Chief Criminal Judge A. A. Matosian said some people had the mistaken idea that it was the lone decision of the chief judge, Joseph Barr, not to extend the term. Actually, all seven circuit judges voted on it, Matosian said.

Weber originally announced he would appeal the decision, but he said "You don't want to get so conditioned to the future, to allow a grand jury to provide for overlapping terms for a small number of jurors." It added, he directed Weber to seek an extension.

Curry said he would have opposed an extension for a full four-month term. "You don't want to get so conditioned to this job you're no longer here as a private citizen," he said.

Curry hopes the drug investigation will continue. "I'm naive, but I really believe this is a long-term benefit," he said.

Statements that the grand jury did not treat some high school student witnesses properly upset Curry. At the time, it was decided he shouldn't comment publicly because it would generate more headlines.

"We absolutely treated those children with respect," Curry said. The jurors were patient and explained the process and what the witnesses' rights were, he said. "I think, if anything, we went farther than we needed to go."

A grand jury consists of 23 people, chosen from the names on the list of random by a computer from voter lists, Judge Matosian said.

After some are chosen the first 23 names on the list are chosen to be the ones who actually serve, the judge said.

The grand jury which served the past four months consisted of nine people from Collinsville, six from Granite City, two from Edwardsville, one from Glen Carbon, one from Troy, one from Godfrey, one from Livingston, one from Highland and one from St. Jacob.

Matosian described it as a dedicated, cheerful group of people who complained about working late.

Weber said it was "a very low enforcement-minded grand jury."

As for his experience on the grand jury, Curry said, "It was the opportunity of a lifetime. You really come away from here knowing a lot more about the county and the court system."

That statement, he said, was from someone who exercised every appeal possible to avoid serving. He said he is vice-president of a St. Louis bank and did not believe he had enough time to be on the grand jury.

Curry said he met with Judge Barr, who told him he could be excused if there were times when he could not make it. "He made it so flexible I had no excuse (not to serve)," Curry said.

Judge Matosian, who named Curry, foreman after consulting with Weber, said Curry "changed his tune" a month after the grand jury began meeting. Curry said at the end of the term that those who don't want to serve should be asked to call him (Curry), Matosian said.

The grand jurors held what was described as a party Thursday at lunch, and it was evident as they left the courtroom at the end of the day that they had become a close-knit group. Plans were discussed for a get-together next month.

Curry said the group's friendliness and joking has been in their proper time and place.

"They were as serious as any group (while meeting) you've ever seen," Curry said.

"They were well aware the destinies of some people might be altered by their decisions. The discussions and votes were not taken lightly."

Bingo bonanza

organizations licensed to play bingo at the amount, No. 17 Namecki pays this amount, including the Tri-City area and her group, although these two groups do get an unspecified amount back for providing equipment and maintenance.

"The Madison County Commission also runs the concession stand at the hall, which seats around 600 persons."

The Namecki bingo is utilized by the Disabled Veterans, the Mexican Commission and also:

Granite City Jaycees, 1855 Poplar Ave.; Fraternal Order of Eagles, 1126 of Granite City, 2558 Madison Ave.; Lions Club of Pontoon Beach, 3901 Lake Drive; Knights of Columbus Council 1069 of Granite City, 2022 Edison Ave. and Granite City Lodge 1063 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, 1329 Niedringhaus Ave.

The commission noted that "in the East St. Louis area, we came across some large halls that made Chicago-area bingo palaces look almost like back rooms."

"The Madison County Firemen's Association Hall, 8510 Collinsville Road, is one such hall," he said. "Owned and operated by approximately 40 volunteer and paid fire departments in the Madison County area, the hall seats up to 1,100 bingo players, although the crowds usually average 500 to 850."

"A concession counter in the hall sells food, beer and wine, proceeds from which go toward maintenance and operation of the hall."

"The large, lighted bingo board at the front of the hall, on which players keep track of the numbers called, is almost impossible to read from the back of the huge converted furniture store and warehouse."

"Seven groups play weekly at the hall, and all but two of them are association members."

"The association members, by virtue of the annual fee they pay, partially 'own' the Firemen's Association hall," according to Gary Anttila, former treasurer of the Hollywood Heights Volunteer Fire Department, a bingo sponsor.

"It is unclear to the commission whether or not these groups also pay rent to the association for bingo sessions, and if so, how much."

"In fact, it is unclear how much rent anyone pays there. All of the groups we spoke with told us a different story."

The list of participating groups: Granite City Firefighters Local 253, located at 2300 Madison Ave.; Madison County Firemen's Association, 9510 Collinsville road; Collinsville Jaycees, 2016 N. Keebler Ave.

Also, Assumption High School, 950 Kingshighway, East St. Louis; Edwardsville Fire Company No. 1 at 410 N. Main St.; Hollywood Heights Volunteer Fire Department, Caseyville; and Collinsville Volunteer Fire Department, 724 LaSalle St.

"The commission's report relates to Nick Leone, president of the board for Assumption High School, the group which plays Wednesday evenings, but which says his group pays a minimum of $400 per session plus one-third of all net profits over $1,200, up to a maximum total of $800."

"Fantine said the Hollywood Heights department pays 'what might be called' rent to the Firemen's Association hall."

"He said this fee is negotiated on a certain percentage of the gross bingo proceeds, but he would not specify exactly what percentage. He said non-affiliated groups are required to pay a minimum of $400 per session for upkeep of the hall."

"On the other hand, one of the non-affiliated groups, the Collinsville Jaycees, told the commission that the rent for a bingo session is $400, one-third of the total net profit, whichever is greater, with no maximum limit."

"Jaycees Treasurer John Kilbury said the rental agreement is identical for all of the groups at the hall, association members included."

"However, he said, the Madison County Firemen's Association itself, which holds a bingo session every Tuesday evening at the hall it owns, may not pay rent."

"For the 1980-81 bingo fiscal year, the Collinsville Jaycees made rental payments to the Firemen's Association hall totaling over $97,000."

"The Jaycees nevertheless netted $135,000 last year through bingo. They see no reason to quarrel with this rental agreement."

"The hall is also used, for functions other than bingo. A dance is held every Saturday night at the hall, and association members and approved non-affiliates may also rent the hall for non-bingo-related occasions. Revenue collected from these groups goes toward upkeep of the hall."

"Bingo providers are permitted to charge licensees a 'reasonable' amount for renting facilities, on a more or less break-even basis."

"It appears the Madison County Firemen's Association may be doing a little more than 'break-even' even."

"It is hard to see how the practice of charging a percentage of a group's net profit is related to the payment of hall operation expenses."

"Also, the association members pay a yearly fee to the association in order to keep up the hall. If they also pay rent when they play bingo, it is almost like being charged twice for the same expense."

"The Madison County Firemen's Association obviously makes a great deal of money from providing bingo space."

"According to James Ray, hall manager, the Firemen's Association bingo proceeds are partially used to provide pensions for area volunteer firemen," the commission pointed out.

It added that "many of the East St. Louis area licensees we spoke with were concerned that Missouri's newly-begun local bingo program will eventually eat a big hole out of their crowd."

"Over 60 percent of the players at (some of) these area halls are Missouri residents, we were told, and the loss of these players would devastate many of the Illinois games held near the Missouri border."

"Missouri's statute is similar to Illinois—the big draw would be the slightly higher legal prize limit of $3,600 (compared to $3,400)."

"However, since fewer games per week are allowed at any one location in Missouri than are allowed in Illinois (where up to ten games are based at a center), the crowd loss may be not as bad as expected."

"Operators of large Downstate Illinois halls are keeping their fingers crossed that they do not lose their players, Missouri and Illinois residents alike."

"Downstate bingo operators told the commission they are not yet sure what they will do to combat Missouri's new bingo program, and it may be in the future that some kind of tactics these operators use in order to keep, and/or lure back, the potentially lost Madison County bingo players."

In addition to the Namecki Village and County Firemen's bingo locations, the game is conducted at a number of other local buildings, each serving only for two organizations."

What is the obviously widespread lure of bingo? The commission explains it as follows:

"Every colored chip placed on a numbered card brings someone closer to 'Bingo!'"

"Every number called, from one to 75, brings someone closer to a little quick cash—undisputed, unearned, waiting to be cashed in."

"Bingo, a number and then another number appear on a lighted board as the tension mounts."

"In front of each player, bingo cards representing a $10 to $15 nightly wager are scanned carefully, as players wait for that 200-to-one chance for a return on their investment."

"One more number is drawn from the box of ricocheting ping pong balls. Bingo, the caller says calmly, 'Bingo!'"

"A woman in the third row of eight-foot-long tables lining the large, brightly-lit room."

"A floorwalker sprints to her side and checks her card against the lighted board. 'It's a good bingo,' he says. She is awarded $100."

"An audible sigh comes up from the other 200 or so players. Chips are dumped back into containers, cigarette butts, and comments are exchanged."

"After a moment or so, all hands are poised over the cards again, waiting for the next game everyone is thinking, 'I'll win this time.'"

"At the end of the night, a few go home richer; most go home poorer. The caller says the cash they'll use for a new appliance or to buy extra bingo cards next time; some have lost $15 which might have been spent for food for the family."

"Some charitable concerns may now have enough money to get by; an organized and planned project in the organization may continue to thrive."

"It is a paradoxical situation, like most gambling. It is made up of wins and losses, of gains and profits and, in the case of bingo, charity and greed. It's a grandmother game, it's a legalized gambling, and it's very big business in Illinois."

"With more than $4.2 billion spent playing bingo every year in the U.S., Americans spend almost two-thirds as much annually on movies and records; they spend only one-seventh of that on the most popular spectator sports put together—baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey."

"Wherever it is legal, bingo is usually restricted to religious, charitable and other socially beneficial groups, which net about 20 percent of the $4.2 billion more than the United Way receives annually."

"About one out of every five Americans has played bingo at one time."

"Gambling expert John Scarne has called it the most predatory form of gambling; that is, it pays back to the players less and makes for its promoters more than any other gambling form."

"But it is bingo's simplicity which attracts the large crowd, not the odds. 'Playing bingo takes no feats of mental skill. A player simply buys one chosen number and makes for its promoters more than any other gambling form.'"

"The first player to cover numbers in a predetermined configuration wins the prize predetermined for that game. 'Since money is the amount of money spent on the game in Illinois has increased annually, to over $120 million this year. Of that, the state gets to keep $6 million.'"

"That is only what is reported to the state. Bingo is a cash business and, as such, is difficult to keep track of. It is no wonder that some licensees may try to hang onto more of it than they are entitled to. And it is no wonder that criminal elements at times seem fit to get into this 'easy money.'"

"We found that technical violations of the Bingo Act are occurring at large bingo halls or palaces, but that the real problem lies in the questionably eligible groups, which more often play at large halls than at small facilities."

"We found 'charitable' groups which donate to no charity. We found groups which exist for no other reason than to make money from bingo."

"In one case (not local), a group with many affiliates legally monopolizes the bingo dollar and conducts 16 games per week for the benefit of the same organization, thus circumventing the law that one organization may play bingo only once weekly."

"Illegal gambling tags have been a major source of difficulty for the DOR, and result in a gambling atmosphere which is not intended by the law."

"This atmosphere is also to be found in large halls, where hundreds of competing players gather—usually not to help a charitable cause, but to win money and nothing else."

"We found evidence of organized crime involvement in two places: the now-closed Pinnacle, in Chicago Heights, and Brown's, reportedly involving the same figures in the Chicago Heights place. Other criminal types have tried to use bingo to make themselves quick cash."

"We sought to examine the current bingo climate in Illinois, to compare it with the intent of the legislature, and to study the enforcement and regulatory efforts aimed at controlling it."

"In the course of our investigation, we discovered that bingo is a passion for thousands of Illinoisans—a passion which the players hope will convert to winnings, a passion charitable and other concerns hope will convert to help for the projects, and a passion some hope to convert to personal profit."

George Halsey, Edwardsville, High School principal, said Friday the estimate of up to 45 percent of students having serious drug-related problems is "an incorrect figure."

While he thinks the situation is less severe than pictured, he said the investigation has "helped the public realize the school itself cannot adequately rectify it."

Halsey urged that parents, schools and law enforcement agencies cooperate to help the situation.

Although many families criticized what they regarded as arbitrary selection of certain students for questioning, saying those subpoenaed could become the target of public ridicule and also of violence by drug dealers.

Webster said all individual rights are being safeguarded but that illegal drug use is not a constitutional right.

One of the prosecutor's goals at the start of the deliberations was to learn from drug abusers the names of people who distribute marijuana. An in-house investigation was being conducted at the root of the problem."

Webster said the county eventually will "go into every high school," Alton, Wood River, Edwardsville and Highland high school lockers have been checked thus far.

The state attorney said, "We want the pushers, but we may charge uncooperative users."

"Students can tell us who the pushers are, so we'll be reducing to tell us, or be charged for using drugs."

That position remains unchanged, and Webster thinks the anti-drug effort will be continued—only by subsequent grand juries but by future prosecutors, on a permanent basis.

Higgins heads United Way drive

Roger A. Higgins, plant manager of the Nestle Company, Inc., has accepted the position of 1982 Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign chairman, it was announced Thursday.

The announcement was made by Bill H. Terrell, president of the Board of Directors, Tri-Cities Area United Way, Inc.

Higgins is a native of Sunbury, Ohio, joining Nestle Company in 1963 as an hourly employee. From an hourly employee, he went on to become vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers at the Sunbury plant. He later completed a Factory Management Course in Vevey, Switzerland, after which he became the manager of the local Nestle plant, the largest instant tea plant in the world.

Higgins resides with his wife, Bonnie, at 232 Bowman, East Alton. They are the parents of three children, Randy, age 23, draftsman for Bander Electric Company and attending Belleville Area College; Bruce, 20, entering his junior year in pre-medicine at Illinois College in Jacksonville, and Sharma, 18, entering her freshman year at Illinois College in Jacksonville.

ROGER HIGGINS

Roger Higgins serves as a deacon of First Baptist Church in East Alton and as a board member of the Parents' Association at the Tri-Cities Area United Way. He also is a former coach for the Wood River Jaycees Jr. League football team and for the Quad-City and Inter-City Baseball League for 23 years.

Higgins activities include many other civic and industrial organizations. He is a director of American Heritage Bank, director and president of Southern Illinois Industrial Association, past president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce for three years, director of the Urban League of St. Louis, past president of the Sunbury, Ohio, Lions Club, executive board member of Tri-Cities Area United Way, Inc., director of Illinois Manufacturers Association, past director of Boy Scouts of America, Cahokia Council, and is a commissioner of parks, East Alton Parks and Recreation.

In announcing Higgins as 1982 United Way campaign chairman, Terrell noted that present economic conditions require a dedicated, conscientious leader to work closely with the many volunteers in the Quad-City Area to make the 1982 United Way Campaign a success. "I am sure the entire community will be with us in our endeavors in 1982 and that, with Roger's leadership, we will respond to the needs of our community and insure the continued strength of services and programs provided by our 15 United Way agencies."

Local residents earn GED degrees

Seventy-five Granite City residents will be honored at GED (General Education Development) graduation ceremonies Thursday, June 3, in the new gym at the Belleville Area College main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

The GED program at BAC gives those unable to finish their high school education the chance to earn a high school equivalency certificate. More than 500 students earned their GED certificate from BAC this spring.

A large percentage of graduates go on to new jobs or to further their education. BAC offered 45 free GED classes in Belleville, Granite City, Cahokia, O'Fallon, Collinsville, Highland, Waterloo, Columbia, Sparta and Caseyville during 1981-82.

The classes concentrate on the five subject areas of the test—grammar, reading in social studies, reading in natural science, practical reading and math. A heavy emphasis is given to reading as this is a skill that permits graduates to go on to higher levels of education.

Venice School Board considers JA center

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

Establishment of a Junior Achievement Center in Venice High School was proposed during a presentation heard at Monday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

The board also heard plans for Venice students interested in band to join in the Madison Middle School summer band program.

The Venice School District discontinued the band program years ago when costs became prohibitive and the district simultaneously lost a substantial portion of its taxing revenue through a sharp reduction in property assessment.

Emmett Vaughn, public relations director for Junior Achievement of Mississippi Valley, Inc., headquartered in Hazelwood, Mo., sought the board's permission to use Venice School District facilities for a JA program, geared to high school age youth from both Venice and Madison.

Vaughn said the Venice-Madison JA program has been located in the OATH (Organization to Aid the Handicapped) Center, Sixth and State streets, Madison, for the past three years.

is the sponsoring company for the Madison-Venice JA program. The JA officer noted three other area high schools—Edwardsville and Cahokia in Illinois and McKinley in St. Louis—have working JA programs in their school buildings.

"This arrangement has been satisfactory and we never have had any vandalism, serious accidents or damage to school property," he noted. JA carries well over $1 million in insurance.

In exchange of $5,000 in scholarship grants are awarded to Junior Achievers each year, supervisors frequently are asked to furnish references for future job opportunities and management-leadership conferences and Dale Carnegie courses are made available to the participating students.

Several local teenagers already have benefited from the Venice-Madison JA operation, he advised. He asked the board to consider allowing the Venice High School workshop, machine shop or home economics facilities, plus use of two adjoining classrooms, one night each week.

"I feel strongly of a need for Junior Achievement in this area," Vaughn said. He added that an individual from the school district, preferably a teacher, could be employed part time by JA, following training during the summer months.

After several questions were asked by Board Member Raymond "Chuck" Mosby, the board agreed to consider the request further after JA officials conform to district policy by completing forms and certifying insurance coverage.

A certificate of insurance also was requested from the Venice Park District, which is seeking use of school district buses to transport children to baseball games at Busch Stadium, St. Louis, on June 16 and 24 and July 28.

Two-thirds of the youngsters must be residents of the Venice School District and other information concerning payment of gas, maintenance expenses and approval of drivers is required before participation can be granted, the board stated.

In other action, the board approved a dance on Friday, May 21, in the Venice cafeteria to raise funds for eighth grade pupils to join Venice High School students on a trip to Six Flags amusement park. Authorized Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers to submit at Title I application for $41,361, which will be $2,700 less than needed to operate the program next school year.

Formerly changed the final day of the current school year to June 4 from June 7.

Agreed to retain the firm of C. J. Schlosser Co. of Alton to conduct the school district audit at a cost of $3,600 for regular district funds and $650 for the Title I fund.

In reviewing the proposed summer band program, Supt. Vickers said from time to time the board has discussed a cooperative band program with the Madison School District and he had explored the idea with Madison officials.

Madison Band Director William Ledbetter had explained that students must be proficient in basic music skills before being accepted into the high school band program. The Venice superintendent related.

It was suggested that Venice youngsters in the fifth through eighth grades join in a six-week summer band program at the Madison Middle School, thereby affording the pupils an opportunity to determine the extent of their interest.

Supt. Vickers stressed that transportation to the band sessions must be the responsibility of the parents, as buses are not provided during the summer months.

Some noticeable difficulties prevail in a cooperative band program with Madison in the regular school term, due to staggered practice hours, but these may not be insurmountable if sufficient Venice students are interested in band, the administrator said.

Several older band instruments still are stored at Venice High School, Supt. Vickers noted, but he added those entering the summer program must rent their own instruments in order to take part.

Letters will be sent home to parents advising them of the possibility of participating in the Madison Middle School Band program. Members were asked to return completed forms, noting their evaluation of priorities in connection with work projects to be completed in the school buildings.

The board toured the buildings last week to gain first-hand information about needed repairs.

From the left are Frances Baker, Eleanor Weber, Minnie Dobbs and Ann Riddle. Mrs. Dolores Folkerts, curriculum director and designer of the program, noted that better pupil fitness is a major emphasis in the district. Gifts of material and money for the program have been received, thus far, from Madison Police Benevolent and Protective Association 110, Madison Amvets, K-Mart and several teachers and parents.

Untimely fall denies Banks honors in state meet

HIGH ON HURDLES. Trojanette trackster Regina Banks finished first in this preliminary race Friday in the IHSA State Track meet in Charleston. Miss Banks, who had the best preliminary time going into the finals, fell during that race and managed a ninth place finish.

CHARLESTON — If only.

The world is full of missed opportunities. Madison's 100 and 200 meters low hurdler, Regina Banks, can attest to that.

Miss Banks was one of a handful of Trojanettes who made the trip to Charleston this past weekend for the state track meet. And of the hundreds of tracksters there, she should be the most disappointed.

"Yes I'm disappointed, but I've got next year. I've got next year to look to. Now I know what it's (state competition) like. I'm gonna win next year," Miss Banks said.

In the midst of Friday's rain-drenched track, the leggy Madison sophomore ran her best time ever in the 200 meter low hurdles, 30.4. In fact, it was the best Class A time recorded in the 200 meters of the day. It appeared she was on her way to be named the best in the state in that event.

The following day, Saturday, it was a different story.

She started out of the blocks slower than she had the day before. She was different, nervous.

Her nervousness stole her concentration and on the fourth hurdle, her lack of concentration took its toll. Miss Banks hit the hurdle and stumbled to the track.

She recovered and finished a disappointing ninth place. Her time was a disappointing 3 seconds slower than the previous day's. Cindy Stechmeyer of Columbia, a girl she had defeated the day before in the preliminaries, won the race.

"I wish I had won, but I'm glad Cindy did if I couldn't," Miss Banks said.

Miss Banks' coach, Lavinia Long, searching for an answer, evaluated the accident. "I'm afraid she folded up. She started out of the blocks a little slower than usual. I think she fell trying to make up the difference," Mrs. Long said.

"She's only a sophomore. She'll be back next year. We're going to work on her starts next year."

Apparently it seemed her fall would directly influence her performance in her remaining event, another hurdling event, the 100 meter lows.

Not so.

With two sore knees, the gutsy Trojanette recuperated enough to run her best time ever in the 100 meter low hurdles, 16.0. That was good enough for eighth place finish.

In addition to the two hurdling events, the Trojanettes were represented in two others, the 400 meter relay and the 1600 meter relay.

In the 400 meter relay, Madison's Rose Clay, Cheri Ware, Jowanna Dillon and Jerriann Ware managed a time of 52.2 seconds, not fast enough to lift them to the finals.

Likewise, in the 1600 meter relay, the Trojanette team of Gina Griggs, Mia Jenkins, Regina Banks and Traci Parker managed a time of 1:14.0 for third place in the preliminaries. Unfortunately, only first and second places in the preliminaries advanced to the finals.

After the meet, coach Long said she was a little disappointed with her team's showing in the state meet, but was hopeful of a better performance next year. All but one who attended this year, Traci Parker, will return to Trojanette team next year, and that she says, "will make me happy."

In District Tennis Tournament
South second, North fourth

GRANITE CITY — Victories by Granite City South's doubles tennis team of John Menendez and Matt Sheridan, and Granite City North's doubles team of Kendall Whittington and David Lipe, lifted the Warriors to a second place tie and the Steelers to a fourth place tie in regional tennis action here this past weekend.

The East-Alton-Wood River team won the district event with eight team points.

The South team, who drew first seed and won the doubles competition, devastated their opponents winning 88 percent of their games. For the record, the South doubles team won 45, and lost only six.

"I'm really happy with their performance," said Rich Harmon, South's netter coach. "They played well, and I'm sure they'll play even better this week at State," Harmon said.

North's doubles team of Whittington and Lipe finished in fourth place, following a marathon match loss to Wood River 7-5, 4-6, 6-4. The Steeler doubles team won 63 percent of their games. Had the Steelers defeated the Oilers, it would have been both Granite City schools vying for the doubles championship.

As it was South emerged on top, followed by Wood River, trailed by Alton-Marquette, followed by the Steelers.

Not all of Granite City's doubles teams fared as well. South's second doubles team in the tournament, comprising of Brian Sparks and Don Kaltmayer, lost in the first round to Bethalto's Tim Pruitt and Greg Johnson 1-6, 4-6.

Likewise, the second Steeler doubles team of Jeff Rush and John Aceto lost in the first round to Menard and Sheridan 1-6, 1-6.

In singles competition, North's Steelers fared better than did the Warriors from South. North's Everette Jolly's characteristic tennis game lifted him to a fourth place finish in singles competition, before he lost to Wood River's Brock Borman 6-2, 6-2.

Alton's Joe Ingram won the singles competition, followed by Borman and Alton-Marquette's Tim Mathews, who finished third.

In earlier singles action, South's Kevin Dickerson lost to Mathews in the first round 1-6, 4-6, as did North's Jesse Byrd to Bethalto's Scott Hoves 1-6, 2-6.

South's Charlie Miles won the first round with a singles victory over Jereville's Mike Sanford 6-0, 6-0, but fell in the second round Borman in identical sets of 6-3.

This Thursday those athletes who finished in first or second place in either singles or doubles in the Districts will advance to state competition in Arlington Heights, a suburb of Chicago. Matches begin at 2 p.m.

Bunting says goodbye to Warrior track...for now

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Mel Bunting loves working with high school students, especially students from Granite City South High School. This is why he is a social studies teacher, an assistant soccer coach, and head track coach at the school.

Mel Bunting also loves his parents. He loves his parents so much that he is willing to give up one of those loves — coaching the track team — just to spend more time with them.

Bunting recently announced his resignation as head track coach of the Warriors in order to be with his elderly parents more often. He will continue to be a full-time social studies teacher and assistant soccer coach.

"My parents are both recently retired," Bunting said, "and I've only seen them three times since Christmas. My dad's 72 years old, and I need time to share with him. Sometimes, you have to put your priorities in order."

Although Bunting's resignation was truly a "personal" reason for leaving his job, he didn't want his resignation to be classified as personal.

"You hear coaches leaving all the time for 'personal' reasons, and that becomes a copout after a while,"

Bunting said.

Track is probably the most time consuming sport of any high school sport. Practices and track meets take a lot of time, but that is to be expected. But there is much more involved in running a track program.

"No one works the time that goes into track," Bunting said. "You have to work and work to get best times to the athletes, you have to find people to work the field events for you. A lot of people think the district meet happens right then, but two nights before, I was at Belleville East at 11 o'clock for the scratch meeting."

In baseball, you just have the game to worry about, but in track you have a lot more to worry about. You eat a lot of Bunting's schedule was particularly grueling because of being an assistant soccer coach under Gene Baker.

"No one works as hard with soccer as Coach Baker, and you work harder, and rightly so, under him. And I'll gladly continue doing that," Bunting said.

Add both of those assignments to a full teaching schedule which includes five social studies classes, and it was easy to see why Bunting didn't spend much time with his parents.

"I live at Granite City South,"

Bunting said. "I have to stay here 12-14 hours a day. It's a really tremendous demand on you."

"I enjoy the association with the kids coaching gives you. A student sees a teacher in a different light on the track and he gets to know the coach a lot better. It's enjoyable to spend the times with the kids."

"I've met a lot of fine coaches and athletes and I respect them and hope to maintain the friendships I have with them. I've also received a lot of support from the people in Granite City. I've asked some of them to do some thing such as running the field events for us, and no one has ever refused an offer."

That satisfaction kept Bunting from leaving track completely behind. He indicated he will attend several track meets next year and perhaps return to coaching track in a few years.

"In a few years, I may be able to come back to coaching track if they ask me to," Bunting said. "It doesn't matter if they want me to be head coach or assistant coach. I've been an assistant coach for 10 years, and I've had a lot of satisfaction out of that. I just enjoy working with and associating with the athletes."

Trojans qualify three for state meet

JONESBORO — Three Madison Trojan tracksters have qualified to compete this weekend in the Boys' State Track Meet at Eastern Illinois University. The Trojans qualify by virtue of their first or second place finishes in district competition in Jonesboro.

The three tracksters are Ken Briggs, who finished first in the long jump with a distance of 21-feet-6, Charles Fuller, who finished second in the 400 meter run with a time of 51.3, and John Lewis, who qualified with his second place finish in the triple jump with a distance of 42-feet-7 1/2.

Madison finished the meet third in team standings, tied with Lebanon. Cairo won the meet.

Madison's track coach, Charles Steptoe, said he was surprised by the quality of Cairo's athletes.

"Cairo was pretty good. They must have some excellent coaching," Steptoe said. "I thought we'd qualify in some of the relays, but they (Cairo) changed that."

For instance, Madison's 400 meter relay team, which had been con-

Warriors host volleyball camp in June

A Southern Illinois University at Carbondale Granite City South Volleyball Camp is scheduled July 13-15 at Granite City South High School located at 3100 Madison Ave. Carbondale's volleyball coaches Robin and Mike Deterding will lead the three day sessions. Current SIUC volleyball standout Syuca Locke will assist both coaches with the sessions.

Robin Deterding, a former South athlete, was named National Co-ed Female Rookie of the Year in 1980 in addition to her "All-State" status. Mike Deterding is currently the assistant women's coach at SIUC, as well as a former member of the Men's Club Team.

The deadline for registering is June 19. Persons wishing to register should make out a check for $45 to SIUC-Granite City V.B. Camp and mail it to Joe Lynch, Continuing Education, SIUC, Carbondale, Ill. 62901. A brief note declaring parent consent has been given should be accompanied with the check.

More information may be obtained locally by calling South's volleyball coach Wilma Schulte at 931-2267.

Elementary Sports Day: The unveiling of budding athletes

Approximately 900 fifth and sixth grade students participated in the annual Sports Day at Maryville School last Tuesday and Wednesday May 18 and 19.

All students were divided into three categories according to their age height and weight using the American Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance classification index.

The index is set up so the smaller, younger students will compete against each other in the first category, while the older, larger students will compete in the third category. The "average" students will compete against each other in the second category.

According to Leigh Heller, district physical education coordinator, "this classification system is one of the fairest methods for providing competitive experience and equality for the students."

Sports Day is the culmination of the spring activity season in which the emphasis has been placed on track and field activities and also testing for the President's Physical Fitness Council. Students competed in one of six events. Those events include the high jump, the 50 yard dash, the long jump, the shuttle run, the 500 yard run and a relay race.

Above: Jessica Moser and Amy Staicoff, both Frohardt Elementary School, discuss their strategy shortly before their relay race. The team from Frohardt finished second in the event.

Left: Sherrie Burris of Logan Elementary School won the first heat of the 500 yard run last Tuesday during the girls' competition. To her left is Julie Gabriel of Niedringhaus Elementary School, who finished second.

In all 13 new records were set in this year's events. Those new record holders include: Tammy LeVault of Parkview Elementary in the high jump, 4-foot-2.

In the 50 yard dash, Mark Hozian of Wilson elementary set a new category II record with a time of 6.7 seconds.

Also in the 50 yard dash, Terry Stanley of Johnson set a new category III record posting a time of 6.2 seconds.

In the long jump five new records were set. In category I, Lisa Weeke of Maryville Elementary set a new record of 6-feet-8. Janine Cooper also of Maryville set a new record of 7-feet-1 in category II. In boys' competition in category II, Mark Hozian of Wilson Elementary jumped 7-feet-5 to set a new record.

And in category III's girls' competition, Rachael Chastain of Emerson Elementary managed a jump of 7-feet-8 1/2 for a new record, while Bob Michaels of Frohardt Elementary School jumped 7-feet-8 in the boys' event to set a new record.

In the shuttle run only one new record was added to the record books. Terry Stanley of Johnson Elementary School managed the shuttle in a mere 8.8

seconds. In the 500 yard run a record was broken in each category. In category I, Rich Wilt of Johnson School managed the distance in 1:21.7, while Quinn Dalton of Webster Elementary equaled that time in category II. In category III, Chris DuBoise of Emerson Elementary sprinted the distance in 1:19.3.

In the final event, the relay, the Johnson School team of Terry Stanley, Jim Martin, Jeff Tindall and Rick Fowler posted a record-breaking time of 27.6.

Cougar netters win fifth national title

EDWARDSVILLE — Claiming it gets harder every time, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Head Coach Ken DeMars and the tennis Cougars made National Collegiate Athletic Association history last weekend by winning their fifth consecutive Division II team championship.

DeMars, the only tennis coach in SIUE history, captured his fifth consecutive crown by collecting 21 points and outdistancing runner-up California State-Bakersfield by eight points. The host team from Florida International University took third place honors with 12 points, while Rollins College, seeded second in the pre-tournament selections, grabbed 11 points, Hampton Institute's seven points and the University of California-Hayward's six points rounded out the top six places.

The 1982 championships also marked the third consecutive year that it came down to a pair of Cougars to determine the singles champions. Ken Flach, the reigning champion from St. Louis, and freshman Robert Seguso, a native of Sunrise, Fla., locked horns in the championship match before Flach regained his national crown with a 6-2, 6-4 victory.

Belleville native opened the three-day event in Miami, Fla. with a 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Tom Horton of Cal State-Bakersfield. He then turned back the number six seed in the tournament, Craig Perry of Rollins College, 6-2 and 6-1.

The Cougars also walked away with the final honor of the weekend as Coach DeMars was selected as the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association "Coach of the Year" for the NCAA-II. This is the second time the Cougars' mentor has won the honor. DeMars was tabbed "Coach of the Year" after the Cougars' 1979 national championship.

North, South tracksters fail to qualify for State

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — Both Granite City South's Dave McLean and Granite City North's Dave Rensing were expected to qualify for the state finals at the Class AA District boys track meet at Belleville East Friday.

McLean and Rensing are two of Southwestern Illinois' best in their events, and both had equally good chances to qualify for state. Neither McLean or Rensing made the state finals.

McLean, who placed in the top five places in the 3200 and 1600 this season, failed to place in either event in the district. Rensing, who won the discus event in all but one meet before Friday and was a top shot put thrower, finished fifth in the discus and didn't place in the shot at that meet.

Both South coach Mel Bunting and North coach Harry Lang were both disappointed that their athletes didn't make the finals, but both coaches emphasized one thing — one track meet doesn't make a season.

Bunting said, "I'm sure Dave (McLean) was disappointed, and I was disappointed too. I was disappointed for him — not with him or in him — for not making the finals."

"He's had a good year. He went to the Proviso select indoor track meet, he's run good times all year, and he's going to Bradley University to run next year. It would be easy to say he had a bad year because he didn't qualify, but that's not true. He's had a very good year," Bunting said.

Lang had the same kind of feelings towards Rensing. "He just had a bad time to have a bad performance. This was the only other time he didn't win the discus this year besides the meet at Centralia. There's no second chances at the district. You have to perform well no matter what to qualify for state. "Dave's an intelligent athlete. He has the grey matter to, and work on his technique. Dave listened and worked on his technique and that's why for being such a small athlete he was able to do so well," Lang said.

"You put together Dave's intelligence and someone who is bigger and stronger and you would have a super athlete," Lang said.

The remainder of North's and South's squads just didn't have the experience or the ability to compete with East St. Louis Lincoln or East St. Louis (Senior) to place. North scored three team points and South scored just one team point.

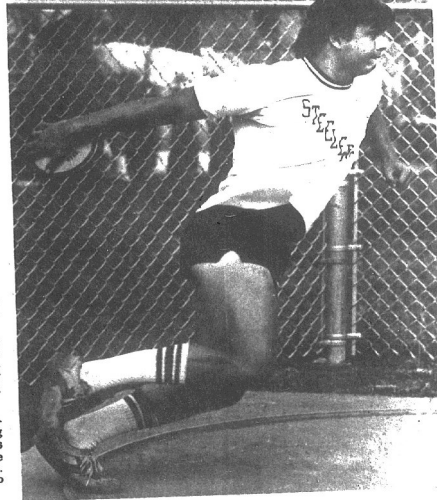

Two of North's team points came on a fourth place finish by the 1600 meter relay. Bill Schaefer, John Peters, Darren Barnaia and Brian Pickens. The four ran the event in 8:35.

D.D. Smith's fifth place finish in the 300 low hurdles provided the only team points for the Warriors.

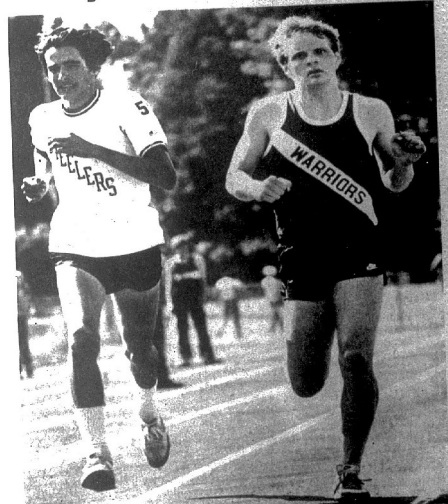

Lang also noted the performances of the 800 and 3200 meter relays for picking up their best times of the season. Bunting praised the efforts of Ed Cailey in the 400 and Steve Dumont in the 800.

"This has been one of the most enjoyable seasons I've had coaching this track," Lang said. "I thought this group stood out to be very good. These boys worked really hard this season. They were a very dedicated bunch who really achieved a lot this year."

Bunting said, "I was very pleased with this team. We had at least 12 personal bests this season and an awful lot of our people were juniors and sophomores."

THE FLING. Granite City North's Dave Rensing had a bad day Saturday in the Belleville East District Track Meet. Rensing, who is used to winning the discus competition, failed to qualify for state competition.

PACING. Granite City North's Jim Robertson (left) and Granite City South's Dave McLean have run side by side in many meets this year, and Saturday was no exception. Neither, however, managed to qualify for this weekend's state meet.

Sports of all Sorts

By AL BARNES
This sports feature story is one of the most enjoyable I've done in my career.

First off, it is about a man one would consider the most unlikely person to have a love for a sport, say like baseball, that he did.

The man was Nathan Fleishman, dead for at least 15 years, but a dominant figure in the life of the Quad-Cities since around the turn of the century. A Jewish emigre from, of all places, South Africa, he settled in Granite City around 1901 or thereabouts. I could never definitely nail him down on the details.

Mr. Fleishman, a man I dearly loved because of his great spirit of overall citizenship in every facet of life, knew that I had been a sports reporter for the old, and lamented, St. Louis Star-Times from 1945 through June of 1981 when the Post-Dispatch bought the Star and threw yours truly out of work.

He never tired of talking about the Star-Times and about sports.

And, little wonder. He was a great and true sports fan. As a highly successful men's clothing store owner and banker, Mr. Nat early on participated in his new country's biggest interest, sports and baseball in particular. He had two loves, his family and baseball. His love for baseball eventually took in an equal adoration for the sports' twin, fast-one would consider the most unlikely person to have a love for a sport, say like baseball, that he did.

Today's picture, a re-union of the 1910 Fleishman's Good Luck Cubs squad, was taken at Wilson Park in 1926. Don't let the light poles in the background fool you, like they did me. As I tried to get someone to identify the men in the photo, the light poles worried me because I knew that night baseball parks didn't come in until 1930. The photo was taken at the hard-ball diamond at Wilson Park, but the men in the picture had played their games, you will hardly believe, at the corner of State and 27th streets back there in 1910. That's hard to believe, isn't it.

The task of finding, locating rather than someone to identify the players was most difficult. My first thought was of Charlie Reiners, but he quickly said that he hadn't been that much of a baseball fan. His wife, Winnie, suggested that "Wade Proharsky" may be able to help you." But he couldn't. However, he did give me a lead.

"Try Marvin Barnes, he was a player in high school about that time (of the picnic in 1926)," urged Waldo.

I called Attorney Barnes (no relations) and we agreed to meet the next evening.

Marvin identified nearly all of the players but three or four. . . an amazing feat of memory, that you agree. The photo is 56 years old and the team had played together 72 years before in 1910.

I hope that the Press-Record sports fans will help us finish the identification of the Good Luck Cubs, one many outstanding baseball teams fielded by Granite City in years gone by, with the help of Mr. Fleishman.

Papa is MVP in hoop game

ST. LOUIS — The kids from Illinois may lost the Missouri-Illinois All-Star game Thursday night 113-86, but to Madison's Bill Papa it didn't matter. The 5-foot-10 guard for the Madison Trojans was leaving the University of Missouri at St. Louis campus with the most valuable player award for the Illinois team. Papa only managed 13 points in the contest, behind Belleville West's Dave Mordhorst's 16, but it was his prowess in ball handling that impressed those giving the awards. C.B.C.'s Ben Mitchell was Missouri's MVP.

The East Side team was generally outclassed. By the end of the first quarter Missouri led by three 25-22. By the end of the second quarter the kids from the west bank jumped to a 53-46 lead, and in the third quarter Missouri had a ten point lead, 74-64.

In addition to Papa and Mordhorst, other East Side athletes named to the team included Madison teammate Mark Zarr, Collinsville's Jim McConkey, Alhorth's Steve Hill, Litchfield's Tyrone Jackson and Todd Porter, Assumption's Joe Horst, Edwardsville's Paul Schaefer, E. St. Louis' Cornelius Stafford and Wood River's Steve Wooley.

Students produce cable TV shows

The two seminar classes at Coolidge Junior High School have been making appearances on cable television performing student-created material. The classes are composed of identified academically-gifted students. They have been involved in numerous other projects during this first year of the new program.

Prior to the current television project, the students have worked in the stock market, studied flight, learned about the nation's legal system and investigated the power of propaganda.

A new game show, "Quiz 'n' Quotes," was televised on Cable Channel E, Wednesday evening, May 19. Participating in this show were Alan Gerard, Paula Bills, Colleen Monaghan, Linda Kiehl, Matt Russell, Beth Werthe, Rich Timmons, Jeff Zukas, Rich Hagen, Dawn Jesse, Louise Frick, Bob Pyo, Terry Zarlingo, David Brake, Kim Asbeck, Jim Barron, Jim Evans, Rhana Cook, Kerry Martin, Rochelle Wallace, David Stacey, Becky Palovchik and Rich Hurcoy.

The other seminar class will be presenting a news show parody called "Newsboom." This show will be seen on Cable Channel E on Wednesday, May 26 at 7:30 p.m. Students participating in this production include Ken Beljanski, Rich Ljwaki, Diane Oliver, Anna Oliver, Debbie Burmeister, Neil Dettwiler, Holly McQuade, Laura Jansen, Todd Hinterser, Dan Graff, Lori Hildreth, Marc Varady, Michele Zukas, David Bamber, Ed Lemmon, Stephanie French, Diane Schill, Eric Ryterski, Eric Johnson, Dan Parks and Charles Matosian.

Students are not only involved in writing and acting, but they also direct the shows and perform all the technical work that normally takes place behind the cameras. "This is not just an exercise in creativity. The television project also is a learning experience as well. The students involved will learn first hand what constitutes the making of a television program, hopefully gaining an appreciation of something so many people take for granted." Edward Schroeder, coordinator of the project, stated.

CUBAN SCUFFLE

On May 24, 1980, several hundred Cuban refugees at Elgin Air Force Base threw stones and scuffled with military police out of anger and frustration over delays in their processing.

HELD PENDING BOND

Jerome D. Johnson Jr., 24, of 1700 Delmar Ave., was being held in the Madison city jail, charged with disobeying a police officer and escape. Johnson allegedly refused to leave a residence in Madison at 2:25 a.m. Thursday. He got on a bicycle to leave, yelled obscenities at police, and said he was going to go back to the house in Madison where he was allegedly creating a disturbance. He then yelled at the officer, "Catch me if you can," and used an obscenity, it was alleged. Police stopped him at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue, put his bicycle in the trunk of the police car and took Johnson to jail.

Winds hamper Chouteau spraying

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks responded last week to criticism that the township does not seem to be taking as active a role this year in the fight against mosquitoes as in past years. Sparks said unfavorable wind conditions this year have made it impractical to spray for mosquitoes on many scheduled nights. Normally, spraying is done on Monday and Friday nights in the township, but attempts have been made to vary the schedule to compensate for rainy or windy nights.

Services for Richard Barr

Funeral services for Richard Lee "Ricky" Barr, 32, of 2838 Edwards St., were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Randall A. Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., with the Rev. Tim Gustafson officiating. Graveside services and burial took place at 2 p.m. Friday at Worthington Cemetery in Murphysboro, Ill.

The boy was pronounced dead at 6:49 p.m. Wednesday, May 19, 1982, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He had been brought to the hospital from home.

He was a student at Coolidge Junior High School and a member of the Body of Christ Fellowship Church. Born in San Lorenzo, Calif., he had resided here since he was 12 months old.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irven Eugene (Debbie) Barr of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Brenda Gallant, of Dexter, Mo.; two brothers, Michael Pool and Allen Eugene Barr, and two sisters, Dawn and Amanda, all at home in Granite City; his maternal grandmother, William Wilson of Madison, and a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Golda Hulvey of Orville, Ill.

Relatives said news coverage concerning the youth's death was accurate, but may have been misinterpreted. They said they believe some relatives were at home when the young man died, but he was alone in his room. A necktie and a clothes rod were taken as evidence by police.

The relatives also said there was no written shopping list for those going shopping. Ricky was believed, mildly upset because there was nothing on the list for him. He had received new shoes the previous week.

Threats of punishment by a teacher were not blamed for the death, despite Ricky's possible statement that if he was punished, he would harm himself, the relatives noted.

2 abducted, hospitalized

Two Granite City women, aged 20 and 18, reported being forcibly abducted between 9:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Saturday while walking on Madison Avenue toward the St. Elizabeth Medical Center emergency room. One was ill and they had wanted to obtain care for her.

Two men in a yellow auto pulled them into the vehicle and drove them to a residence, where they were forced to consume pills containing an unknown substance.

One of the women was kicked in the stomach by one of the abductors.

The pills made them violently ill and they were admitted to the medical center after being given emergency treatment there at 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

Due to their illness, police were able to obtain only a sketchy account of the series of events. It was not immediately determined how they gained their freedom, and reached the hospital after being held against their will for several hours.

The driver of the auto was described as being of medium build, with light brown hair.

Store looted of controlled drugs

Bottles containing controlled drugs were taken by a burglar shortly before 11 p.m. Saturday at the Bellemore Reese Drug Store, 2216 N. Main St., St. Louis.

An inventory is being made to pinpoint the types and quantities of drugs missing.

The intruder broke a window to gain entry to the building and then looted a drug cabinet, it was determined.

An extensive investigation was made at the scene and in the neighborhood of the store, including use of a police dog.

FINED $500 AFTER RESTAURANT CRASH

Circuit Judge George Moran Jr. last week fined Phillip Mackin, 44, of 2028 Washington Ave. $500 plus $75 costs for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Mackin's auto struck a utility pole and then crashed all the way through a storage room at the Baker's Drive-In restaurant, 1871 Edwardsville Road, May 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clark

58th anniversary for Eugene Clarks

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene "John" Clark, 2517 Delmar Ave., celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary Saturday. They were married on May 22, 1924.

The couple has three daughters, Mrs. Wilma Krueger of St. Louis, Mrs. Audrey Cornier of Granite City and Mrs. Jean Pannell of Houston, Tex. They also have eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Mr. Clark came to Granite City from Piedmont, Mo., in 1918 when he was 15 years old and went to work at the Commonwealth plant (General Steel Industries) and Madison car shops (American Steel Foundries).

"He enlisted in the Army in 1920, serving 2 1/2 years, and then was employed for the next 4 1/2 years at Granite City Steel. He retired from there in 1939."

His wife, the former Virgie Shomaker, arrived in Granite City in 1924, also from Piedmont, and shortly afterward they were married.

First child for Greg Blackwells

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Blackwell, 54 Kaseberg Park, are announcing the birth of their first child, a girl, on May 11 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The infant weighed seven pounds, seven ounces, and has been named Amanda Nicole.

The mother is the former Cheryl Brake. Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Wayman (Mary) Pogue and Mr. and Mrs. Arky (Betty) Blackwell, all of Granite City.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Pearl Willhite, Waverly, Tenn.; Thelma Pogue, Granite City; Helen Berry, Wentzville, Mo.; and Daily Blackwell, Tucker, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck receive greetings

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck, 7 Knoll Drive, Collinsville, former 40-year residents of the Quad-Cities, received a card of congratulations on their 60th wedding anniversary from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan. Mr. Clark commented this week about the many changes in the community within the past 64 years. "Most of the streets were paved with bricks and were known by letters of the alphabet—A.B.C.D.E. State, G, Madison, I, and Washington," he said.

"There were very few houses north and east of 23rd Street and there was no YMCA or library or Wilson Park. The old post office was the most beautiful building downtown."

"The police station was on 19th, between State and G, and the old Kirkpatrick Farm and apple orchard was where the new fire station and police station now stands (24th and Madison)."

"No ice was made in Granite City at the time. The closest place to get ice was in St. Louis," he said.

"You could hear the whistles on those big, old steam engines for miles and miles on a cold morning," Mr. Clark recalled.

Nowadays, he likes to fish and garden. The couple also enjoys visiting with their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Hodges, first vice-president, Florence Moore, second vice-president, Shirley Rapoff, treasurer, Celestia Puryear, recording secretary and Patti Crockerall, corresponding secretary. More than 100 members and guests attended the installation banquet at Charlie's Restaurant.

Business Women install new officers

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

of the Press-Record
In an impressive ceremony, Harold Yount, president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women, was installed last week with the club's 1982-83 officer corps.

More than 100 BPW members and guests attended the installation dinner at Charlie's Restaurant.

Annette Smith of Granite City, president of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women, was the installing officer and charged those assuming office with their responsibilities and duties.

Installed with Mrs. Yount were: Rose Ezell, president-elect; Barbara Hodges, first vice-president; Florence Moore, second vice-president; Patricia Crockerall, corresponding secretary; Celestia Puryear, recording secretary; and Shirley Rapoff, treasurer.

New members of the board of directors also installed were:

Ruth Bradley, public relations; Jeanette Parrott, legislation; Ann Graknoff, program; Pauline Weir, finance; Rose Stevenson, BPW Foundation; Lillian Marshall, individual development program; Barbara Young, Young Careerist and Pearl Kennerly, membership.

Entertainment at the festive affair was provided by Agape, a widely acclaimed singing group from Grace Baptist Church, under the leadership of Nick Potlidak, choir director.

The youthful singers presented several vocal selections, including "What A Difference You've Made in My Life," "Where Your Heart Is," "Thank You, Jesus, For All You Have Done for Me" and "Pass It On."

Piano selections were performed by Valerie Stevens with the introduction of past presidents and during an interlude while new officers were being escorted and following their oath of acceptance.

Her musical program featured such numbers as "Tomorrow," "Hey, Look It Over," "Dolly" and "Triumphal March" from Alda.

Mrs. Yount gave her acceptance address and introduced members who have agreed to serve in specific appointed posts. They include:

Ruth Nicholas, community affairs; Dorothy Hill, ways and means; Norma Mendoza, parliamentary advisor; LaVelle Stephens, chaplain; Dolores Allen, historian; Joy Wofford, scrapbook; Louise Smith and Kathryn Smithson, reservations and hospitality; Becky Slate, past presidents and anniversary night.

Sylvia Wright, International Business Week; Lois Welton, National Business Week; Rosemarie Lindner, style show; Ruth Walk, telephone chairman; Emylee Alford, Christmas party; Janet Mills, Women Involved; Hazel Rollins, Amosalem; Wilma Large, Cella

Howard Fellowship;

Helene Blochoff and Ollie Derr, 60th anniversary; and Ramona Burnett, prayer breakfast.

Ollie Derr, immediate past president, also will serve as co-chairman of the Special Human Services Committee with Rosalie Stern, a past president.

Dolores Allen offered the club collect and the pledge to the flag was led by Emylee Alford. Mrs. Derr introduced various guests.

After the installation, Mrs. Yount presented members of her family and church. She also introduced Granite City's Junior Miss—Jaclyn Green—and several of her students and their parents.

As president elect of the local club last year, Mrs. Yount also served as chairman for the Granite City Junior Miss Pageant, sponsored by the club.

Proceeds from the project added $1,000 to the BPW Scholarship Fund. Mrs. Yount has owned and operated Yount's School of Baton and Performing Arts in Granite City for the past 15 years. She is an established teacher and judge of baton twirling and talent and has taught more than 500 boys and girls from the bi-state metropolitan area.

She has served on the Illinois BPW Federation Public Relations Committee and as second vice-president and chairman of the bylaws, yearbook and program committees for the local club.

The new club president was local and District 14 IDP "Speak-Out" winner in 1979-80, the same year her program committee won district and state program awards.

She announced her theme for the 1982-83 club year as "Victory in '83."

Mrs. Yount reinforced the club's stand on ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and announced plans to expand activities to include aerobic dance classes, a membership reunion and a special celebration in October to mark the Granite City BPW's 60th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck celebrate 60th year

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck of Collinsville, formerly of Madison, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage at a dinner and reception.

The gala affair was held in the Madison Memorial Center, hosted by their sons and daughters-in-law and attended by many relatives and friends.

Mr. Peck and his wife, the former Clara Durnberg, were married on April 15, 1922.

Prior to retiring five years ago, he was employed as a switchman at the Blast Furnace Division of Granite City Steel.

Their sons and daughters-in-law are Mr. and Mrs. Richard and Naomi Peck of Madison, Russell and June Peck of Collinsville, Norman and Rhoda Peck of Granite

City and Randall Peck of Garden Grove, Calif.

The couple also has 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Among the guests from out of town greeting the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harman of Mount Vernon, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sampson of Potosi, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart Sr. of St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kraft, all of Edwardsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peck Jr. of O'Fallon, Ill., Roger Harrison of Greenville, Mrs. Helen Salter of Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart Jr. of East Alton, Mr. and Mrs. Doctor and Mrs. Carl Maxwell and family, all of Collinsville, and James Hasty of St. Louis.

'82 conference of Methodists

The annual Southern Illinois conference of the United Methodist Church is scheduled to take place May 29-31 at McKendree College in Lebanon. Bishop Leroy C. Hodapp, president of the conference and Episcopal leader of the Illinois Area United Methodist Churches, will be the presiding bishop. At 7 Wednesday, Bishop William T. Handy Jr., bishop of the Missouri area, will conduct the evening worship. Immediately following in Ames Hall will be a reception to welcome the visiting bishops and their wives, including Bishop and Mrs. William T. Handy Jr., Bishop and Mrs. Kenneth Hicks and Bishop and Mrs. Hodapp. Bishop Hicks, resident bishop of the Arkansas area, will conduct services at 11 a.m. on both Thursday and Friday.

Dr. Isaac Bivens, assistant general secretary for African affairs in the World Division of the Board of Global Ministries, will speak to the conference Thursday afternoon about the African Church Growth Development Fund. About 600 participants are expected, including pastors and their wives.

Robert Davinroy is christened

Robert Lee Davinroy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Davinroy of Florissant, Mo., former residents of the Quad-Cities, was christened in services at St. Dismas Catholic Church in Florissant on May 8.

The infant was born March 20 and has a sister, Rhannon, 3 years old.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted at the parents' home for family members and friends.

Among the guests were the infant's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davinroy of Granite City.

GC Junior Service in parade

Plans to participate in the local Shriner's circus parade, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 8, were completed by members of the Granite City Junior Service Club at their meeting last week at the Namoki United Methodist Church.

The group also discussed its major fund raising project of the year, "Breakfast With Santa," setting a date of Dec. 4.

Other programs were reviewed in the business session, conducted by Gail Miosky, who was presiding over her first meeting as president.

A potluck picnic was arranged for the club's June 21 meeting. Among those attending were Karen Niebur, Betty Nighohossian, Gale McFarland, Joella Harris, Joyce Curran, Donna McBride, Becky Serlich, Debbie McMillan, Peggy Willard, Donna Sprankle, Sue Bies, Brenda Weckman, Paula Weaver, Linda Gordon, Wilma Eddington, Rose Ann Bates, Jo Ann Wayne, Donna Polivick, Faith Holsinger, Pam Reed and Sara Repp.

Women of the Moose enjoy pot luck meal

Granite City Chapter 247 of the Women of the Moose held its Academy of Friendship chicken pot luck dinner at the Moose Lodge.

Three ladies were honored. Receiving their Friendship Degree, May 2 at Mooseheart, Ill., were Sylvia Woods, Betty Smith and Carolyn Hester.

Other Friendship members attending were Pat Macke, Alice Skaggs, Frances Westbrook, Louise McClanahan, Benetto Boyd, Mildred Votopal, Margaret Hester, Sara Guswelle, Ana Kuzma and Irene Golde, Virginia Sever, Marylee Bunter, Birdie Meyenburg, Edna Mader, Jay Kahn, Vernie Von Nida, Arlene Tadlock, Theola Garcia, Dorothy Dinker, Jeff Seif, Pat Lipcomb and Marian Lipcomb.

The tables were decorated in blue and gold flowers, the friendship colors. At each place was a small gold ring, representing the Circle of Friendship. Games were played and each member received a gift. The next meeting will be June 1 at the Moose Lodge.

Conference on Mary in the New Testament

A conference on "Mary in the New Testament" will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, tomorrow. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Religious Center. Featured speaker will be Patrick Gaffney, professor in the department of theological studies at St. Louis University.

Professor Gaffney has a doctoral degree in sacred theology from the Pontifical University of St. Thomas de Aquinas in Rome. His specialty is systematic theology.

According to the Rev. Ken Stewart, a campus minister at SIUE, May is the month the church traditionally focuses upon Mary. "Since the early days of Christianity, Mary has held an indisputable place in the spiritual doctrine of the church. She has a very definite role to fulfill in the spiritual life of every Christian," Rev. Stewart said.

The conference is sponsored by the SIUE Newman Student Union. For more information, interested persons may contact the Religious Center at 1-692-3246.

Higher prices for copies of official reports

Higher prices are planned for copies of official documents provided to the public at the Granite City police building.

Effective on July 1, the charge will be $2 per page for reports dealing with criminal offenses and $3 for each traffic accident report.

At present, the fees are $1 a page on police reports and $2 on collision forms.

The new charges that will be effective in July are well below the rates at which other police departments, Chief Ronald J. Velzer noted. He attributed the scheduled increase to a "break even" on such services. At present, the copying work is costing more than the revenue it produces.

Deadline for science program

'Friday is the deadline for registration for the Science Awareness Program at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, which begins June 21 and runs through Aug. 13.

The program offers college credit in English, physical science, college algebra and pre-calculus for students who are not working during afternoons.

To participate in the federally-funded program, students must meet federal guidelines for eligibility. Students taking science awareness classes must be able to show proof that they are from low-income families.

Applications for registration may be obtained from Ladora Williams, a counselor at East Side High School; Norvella Hickman, a counselor at Lincoln High School; or the Science Awareness Office on the fifth floor of the SIUE-East St. Louis Center, 411 East Broadway.

More information is available from Larry Hogg or Barbara Bernard of the Science Awareness Program at 271-3000, extension 52 or 47.

Married to Philip Slover, the new graduate is the mother of two sons, Eric, 10 years, and Benjamin, 7. The family resides at 2301 St. Bernard Ave., Granite City.

Mrs. Slover has accepted a nursing position at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she will commence her duties on June 7.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davinroy, 5 Nassau Drive.

No immediate prospect of high school girls' soccer

Interscholastic girls' soccer, a goal of the Granite City school district, is being delayed by a lack of league or independent competition.

Joseph Fedora, administrative assistant for athletics and physical education, told the Board of Education last week that "I have not been able to promote girls' soccer with area schools as had been hoped."

"I have written a series of letters over a two-year period to Illinois schools within a 100-mile radius. Seven schools indicated a possible interest at a later date."

"These seven are still looking at a later date, but 'not now.' I have also communicated with St. Louis schools in this endeavor, and the results have not been favorable."

"Our district's intention was to implement girls' soccer in the fall to replace girls' field hockey."

"The Athletic Council re-evaluated our district's interest in providing girls' interscholastic soccer in January and does not believe implementing it to be in the best interest of the total girls' athletic program — until such a time as the Illinois High School Association establishes a girls' soccer season and subsequent state final tournament series."

"According to Liz Astorh, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association, as best as he has been able to verify there are presently sixteen school teams playing girls' soccer in Illinois."

"All teams are located in the northern part of the state, with some schools playing in the fall and others in the spring."

Fedora lists the Athletic Council's spring implementation concerns and evaluations as follows:

1. Girls' track and softball both IHSA-sponsored activities — provide ample athletic participation for girls during the spring of the year. Many of the girls competing in these two sports also play soccer on independent teams at this time.

2. Missouri and St. Louis County schools presently play soccer in the spring and are expecting to have a Missouri High School Athletic Association tournament series perhaps by next year.

The Missouri girls are limited to 16 games and two tournaments.

With these limitations, it would be difficult to obtain a consistent regular-season team schedule for the two Granite City high schools and this would not allow for any league affiliation or pre-season tournaments.

3. Spring is presently the major season for Granite City's independent girls' soccer teams. With the absence of an IHSA girls' soccer season and a subsequent state series, it is doubtful that the more skilled girl soccer players would elect to play school soccer instead of independent soccer.

Illinois High School Association rules prohibit student athletes from participating on a school team and an independent team in the same sport at the same time.

Fedora related that the Athletic Council is opposed to implementing girls' soccer as a winter activity for the following reasons:

1. The district has already experienced winter soccer for the boys; adverse weather and playing conditions proved to be almost unbearable.

As a result, the district played a key role in having boys' soccer moved to the fall of the year.

The Athletic Council does not wish to subject the girls' athletic program to what experience has already proven to be an "intolerable time of the year" for outdoor soccer — freezing weather, frozen and snow-covered fields, early darkness, etc.

2. The 16 Missouri parochial schools play girls' soccer beginning on Nov. 1 and terminating on Dec. 31. Should the MHSAA adopt spring season activities, the parochial schools will probably move to spring soccer in the near future.

"With the above rationale, to summarize the situation, the Athletic Council believes it advisable to hold on to implementing girls' interscholastic soccer at the present time."

"It appears that the independent soccer teams in Granite City can provide a more adequate soccer program for the girls in the community than the school district."

"As an administrative assistant for athletics and physical education for the district, I believe I have done everything feasible and possible to fulfill the board's and community's desire to implement girls' interscholastic soccer."

"We must have involvement and commitments from other Illinois schools in our area, and this is non-existent at this time."

Bolandis' book on finance in hospitals is published

By JINNY TUETKEN
St. Elizabeth Medical Center

How many times have you heard this complaint? "I could do this job so much better if I just had the right things to work with." Many times, complaining is as far as it goes.

But not for Jerry Bolandis. He was dissatisfied with the textbooks available for the hospital finance course that he teaches at St. Louis University. So he wrote one himself.

His experience in finance provided the background. A certified public accountant, Bolandis is controller for St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Since 1977, he has been an instructor of finance in the Department of Hospital and Health Care Administration at St. Louis University.

According to Bolandis, the book is a combination of theory and application, using a case-study approach. "You cannot limit hospitals to strict accounting principles. The theory must be applied to real-life setting because of the unique and pressure-filled environment. You are son of the late Albert Bolandis and Gerda Bolandis of Collinsville. Bolandis received his bachelor of arts degree in mathematics, master of business administration from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is presently working toward a PhD in finance at St. Louis University. He has published articles on hospital finance and has given presentations on financial management to members of the Hospital Financial Management Association and American College of Nursing Home Administrators.

BOOK'S AUTHOR. Jerry Bolandis, controller of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, has written a textbook "Hospital Finance — A Comprehensive Case Approach," which now has been printed.

He also is vice-president and treasurer of Providence Management and Marketing Services, a consulting firm owned by the Sisters of Divine Providence.

News notes

Adlai Stevenson. Democratic gubernatorial nominee, was endorsed Thursday by the Wood River local of Operating Engineers, the Chicago Teachers Union and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, while Gov. James Thompson, Republican, was supported by Business Manager Jerry Wray of the Granite City local of Operating Engineers and by the Teamsters of Illinois. Illinois AFL-CIO President Robert Gibson expects neither to get the two-thirds vote of the leadership necessary for the state group to make a choice between the two rivals.

Consumer prices rose only slightly in April, a 3 percent annual rate. And during the first four months of 1982, the inflation rate has totaled only 1.5 percent. The increase from April 1981 to April 1982 was 6.6 percent. But the recession is continuing, and orders for durable goods declined 3.9 percent in April.

Contract talks between three large food chains and their unions are continuing, with no substantial progress reported by Schnuck, National and Kroger.

The Illinois House voted 115-54 Friday to delay distributing $126 million in public school aid. The plan now goes to the governor, who suggested it.

A final decision will be made Wednesday by the Illinois Commerce Commission on Illinois Bell telephone rates. A hearing examiner favors granting rate hikes providing about $200 million in added revenue, half of what was sought.

John L. DeLaurentis, who lost a retention election in 1980, was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court last week as Bond County resident judge in the Third Circuit. The Democrat will serve from June 1 to Dec. 5 and holds the nomination for election as judge Nov. 2; there is no Republican nominee.

U.S. Senator Alan Dixon earned $17,000 in speaking fees in 1981, including $2,000 from a commodity futures group while on a four-day Florida trip paid for by the organization. His net worth of $984,000 includes more than $500,000 in real estate holdings and stocks totaling nearly $25,000. U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy obtained a two-week delay in filing his annual report.

State Rep. Sam Wolf and State Rep. Jim McPike were among those successfully opposing a reduction in worker compensation benefits Thursday. A bill to revise the controversial compensation law lost 74-91.

The Illinois House approved 171-0 Thursday a bill enabling the state to seize cash and property gained by criminals from narcotics trafficking.

JEANNE TRIMMER

Selected for medical school honors program

Jeanne Marie Trimmer, the daughter of Ronald and Mary Trimmer, 106 Lenox, Mitchell, has been selected for admission into the Northwestern University Honors Program in Medical Education.

This honors program is designed for gifted high school students who seek a career in medicine or medical science.

Each student is admitted simultaneously to the College of Arts and Sciences and to the Medical School. The program shortens the time required for obtaining the doctor of medicine degree from the usual eight to six years.

Miss Trimmer, a 1982 graduating senior of Granite City High School North, has been named in Who's Who Among American High School Students and is an Illinois state scholar.

She was the 1981 North delegate to Illinois Girls State and was elected to the Girls State House of Representatives.

At North High, she has been active in speech activities, Theatrics, Pep-permint Players, Science Club, newspaper staff, Quill and Scroll, mathematics team, and National Honor Society. She was named to North's Spring Carousel court.

Additional GC Council action—at a glance

Granite City Council discussions and actions last week included the following: city's 5 percent sales tax.

Two senior citizens spoke before the council protesting a possible $9 quarterly increase in their sewer treatment bills. Later in the meeting, aldermen approved a resolution not to by off any of the 28-member staff at the plant, after weeks of hearing accusations about the workers and the plant and challenged anyone with concrete proof of wrongdoing to produce facts, rather than continue making unfounded statements.

City Clerk Robert Stevens was denied his request to impose deadlines for submitting business to be considered at council meetings. Stevens said he felt by implementing the council meeting rules, the efficiency and effectiveness of council meetings could have been "greatly improved." Among the rules voted down was a request for all pending ordinances to be given to the clerk in sufficient time for him to submit advance copies to aldermen. Alderman Walter Milton, who had worked on the rules, cited failure to follow such rules as a reason for confusion at council meetings.

The council voted to accept a bid by C. D. Peters Co. to pave a road for Seider Supply, as required by a prior agreement between the city and the company made when the 18th Street Overpass was being constructed. Some aldermen felt the work should be delayed, since, according to City Treasurer Nick Perillo, Seider Supply has refused to pay the city's 5 percent sales tax.

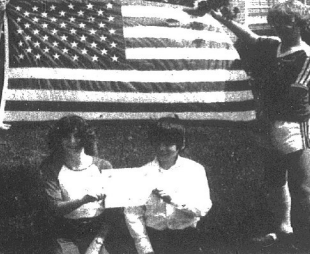

The city approved a series of traffic ordinances, including one-way streets, stop signs and limited parking along Keith and Westmoreland drives to prevent drivers using those streets as a route to go around trains blocking roads in that area. The mayor and aldermen said they would consider giving Keith Drive to residents to block the access to speeding and unsafe drivers.

The city approved a minimum pay scale of $4 per hour for city part-time workers.

Joseph Parente, part-time federally-funded city planner, announced he will soon be leaving his post at city hall for a position with the county's Community Development office. Parente has been a leader in downtown redevelopment plans. Mayor Paul Schuler said Parente's absence could possibly "cripple or kill" downtown plans. "We've got to replace him (Parente) and Dave (Polan)," Schuler said of the departing planner and his former administrative assistant.

Mayor Schuler said City Attorney John Papa is investigating the possibility of applying the city's five-percent telephone tax on cable television bills. If the ordinance, which pertains to electronic-transmitted messages, is found to be applicable to cable television, it will be applied, said the mayor.

THREE ARE ARRESTED Federico Foschiatti, 20, S. Roxana, Manuel Foschiatti, 18, of 2207 Edison Ave. and a 16-year-old boy were arrested for disorderly conduct at 4:30 p.m. Friday in the 2900 block of E. 25th Street. It was alleged that beer cans were thrown and an auto was struck with a stick.

ARRESTED IN PARK Warned at 9:30 a.m. Friday to stay away from 2423 Lincoln Ave. with obscene conduct at Broadway and Lincoln Avenue at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. He was freed on $52 bail.

Earns nurse's pin at BAC

Barbara A. Burris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Burris, 2920 Myrtle Ave., has graduated with honors as a registered nurse from Bellevue Area College.

She received her pin and certificate in ceremonies held during the weekend at St. Peter's Catholic Cathedral in Belleville.

Miss Burris graduated in 1979 from Granite City High School North. She attended BAC for three years and was listed on the college honor roll.

The new graduate has accepted a position at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she will begin orientation sessions June 7.

Sasyk to host mayors

Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison will host the next meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors on Wednesday, May 26, at the Firemen's Hall, 1523 Third St., Madison.

The hospitality hour begins at 6 p.m., dinner is at 7 p.m. and the meeting is 8 p.m. The cost will be $10 per person and will include a free drink.

Mayor Sasyk has arranged to have Tom Fitzsimmons from the Illinois Municipal League to speak on recent legislation.

Reservations may be made by mailing checks to Doris Neuhaus, 68 Glen Echo Dr., Glen Carbon, Ill., 62034, or calling 1-282-5800 after 5:30 p.m. or on the weekend. Deadline is Monday, May 23rd.

CHARGE PENDING A charge of unlawful possession of a controlled substance against a 15-year-old student at Granite City High School North is pending the results of a laboratory test. The girl allegedly had 83 capsules in a plastic bag in her possession at school last week. She was released as a representative of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

farrest IN VENICE
Venice police charged Richard A. Dittich, 32, of 2423 Lincoln Ave. with obscene conduct at Broadway and Lincoln Avenue at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. He was freed on $52 bail.

Don't ignore book censorship issue, group told

By ED GURNEY

People interested in education should not ignore the problems experienced elsewhere with textbook censorship, a Granite City junior high school teacher told those at a meeting in Collinsville recently.

"We can't sit by and think it won't happen to us," Shirley Stoll, president of the teachers' group in Granite City, said.

Mrs. Stoll said there were three times as many censorship reports from 1975-80 as there were in the previous decade. The number of cases "has skyrocketed" since last year, she said.

The Moral Majority and Phyllis Schlafly's Eagle Forum are among the 200 organizations involved in textbook censorship, Mrs. Stoll said.

"What should be done? The bottom line is to be prepared," she said.

"Establish a written policy." Tuition tax credits, finances and image were three of the other education issues discussed at the regional meeting of the Illinois Coalition for Public Education, which was held at Collinsville High School. About 70 people attended.

"One of the goals of the meeting was to get people to set up local coalitions to promote education, according to Joyce Krueger, a resident of the Millstadt School District who helped organize the meeting.

The coalition, formed in 1980, has 10 organizations as members, including the Illinois Association of School Boards, Illinois Association of School Administrators, Illinois Education Association, Illinois Federation of Teachers, and Illinois Association of School Business Officials.

The combined membership is 350,000, Krueger said. Two other regional meetings were held in Chicago and Springfield. People from Jersey County south were invited to the Collinsville meeting, Mrs. Krueger said.

One of the goals of the coalition is to protect the image of public education, she said. That subject was discussed at the Collinsville meeting by Dorothy Groh, a member of the board of education of the Marissa School District.

"What is the present image of public education? Right now it isn't very high," Mrs. Groh said.

She went on to list what she sees as some of the positive things about education. She said in the last generation, public schools have tried to educate more students. Student performance is as good or better than it was a generation ago, she said.

Everyone is guilty of seeming to like failure, Mrs. Groh said. No one talks about the 99 percent doing well; they talk about the other one percent, she said.

"This is everywhere," Mrs. Groh said. "This is the main thing we've got to get rid of."

There are more children going to school in the United States than anywhere in the world, and more handicapped children are served, she said.

"In a nutshell, today's public schools are good and getting better," Mrs. Groh said.

The superintendent of Belleville School District 118, Joseph Cipri, gave the group some bleak observations about future funding from the state and federal government.

The new federal block grant program is supposedly designed to give local districts more flexibility in spending money, he said.

"What it means is you get less money," he said. "I think some boys and girls are going to get lost in the shuffle."

In Illinois, schools are the only agencies asked to help the state through a cash flow problem, Cipri said. "What does that tell you about the priority of education?" he said.

Districts have been told that a state aid payment eliminated this year will be made up within two years.

"I'm saying to you you're going to be chasing that state aid payment forever," Cipri said.

Lee Triefenbach, business manager for Belleville School District 118, said a major revision of the state aid formula is needed.

Fred Haas, a high school teacher in Millstadt, said the proposed tuition tax credit for parents sending children to private schools is unconstitutional.

Haas said the Coalition opposes the proposal because it would mean less state aid to public schools, violate the

Accept comments on milk regulations

Dairy farmers, cooperatives, milk handlers and consumers may comment until May 27 on a U.S. Department of Agriculture proposal that would suspend certain diversion provisions of the Southern Illinois federal milk marketing order for June through August.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in Washington, D.C., said the proposed suspension has been requested by Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., a cooperative association representing dairy farmers in the market. He said the proposal would increase the amount of milk not needed for fluid use that may be moved directly from farms to nonpool plants and still be priced under the order.

Mid-America claims that without the suspension, uneconomic shipments of milk would be necessary to maintain pool status for milk currently supplied to a fluid milk plant that will cease operations at the end of May.

Federal milk marketing orders set minimum prices regulated handlers must pay dairy farmers for their milk. The orders do not set the prices consumers pay for milk and dairy products at retail outlets.

The proposed suspension was published in the May 20 Federal Register. Copies also are available from: Donald R. Nicholson, market administrator, P.O. Box 1488, Maryland Heights, Mo., 63043, telephone 1-314-587-4730, or Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Comments may be sent to: Hearing Clerk, Room 1077-S, USDA, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Arrest two on cannabis charge

Steven P. Waltemate, 29, of 212 Wilson Park Lane, and Timothy B. Rowane, 17, of 1938 Benton St., were charged with unlawful possession of cannabis last week when the vehicle in which they were driving was halted by police at 27th Street and Madison Avenue.

A strong odor of cannabis allegedly emanated from the auto and a piece of drug paraphernalia was noted on the floorboard, the arresting officer said.

One man had a plastic bag containing two cannabis cigarettes hanging from his shirt, and a frisbee holding a quantity of loose cannabis was found under the front seat, it was alleged.

Waltemate also was charged with reckless driving. He was released upon paying a $152 cash bond.

Rowane pleaded innocent in court appearance and was released on his own recognizance by Judge George Moran Jr.

CHILD STRUCK DRIVER IN HOSPITAL

David Smith, age 4, of 207 Madison Ave., Madison, was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being struck by a auto last week at Third Street and Madison Avenue.

The driver of the auto that allegedly struck Smith, Mrs. Lydia Henderson, 3029 Alton Ave., Madison, was admitted to SEMC and was reported in stable condition.

Official reports on the accident have not been completed by police, due to the fact Mrs. Henderson is hospitalized.

Scientists think that fusion, the same power behind an H-bomb, keeps the sun shining. They picture the sun as an enormous hydrogen bomb that keeps on exploding.

Kennedy fights crime

By NANCY ANDERSON

George Kennedy, who has played screen cops, hopes his new series for ABC-TV, "Counterattack: Crime in America," will help the real boys in blue by teaching the public how to ward off malefactors.

Further, it may encourage persons to call the law should they have information about crimes.

"Counterattack: Crime in America" made its debut May 2.

The network ordered the show at the last minute on a limited basis but will presumably extend its life if it grabs viewers.

"There's an organization in California called We Tip," Kennedy explains, "which is now going national. It has an 800 telephone number and people are asked to call with tips about crimes which are then turned over to the police."

"In California alone, We Tip has been responsible for 2,000 drug busts."

"The television series is based on its files."

Tipsters calling We Tip are anonymous.

"If you give your name," George says, "you'll be cut off."

Yes, he grants, this system might encourage the vengeful, the mischievous or the crazy to call in with false tips implicating innocent people.

"But," he points out, "if you are mad at your neighbor and want to cause him trouble, you could accuse him of being a Brinks robber. If We Tip didn't exist, you could call the police directly."

"If 'Crime in America' does nothing but teach people how to defend themselves, I'll be pleased," he continues.

"In one segment, I showed how people in 17th-floor apartments can protect themselves against cat burglars. I showed two very inexpensive locks which cost under $5 and one thing you can do with a broom handle."

"We also showed the mistakes a woman can make parking her car at night. These are the things we are doing which can help the public."

George won the Academy Award in 1967 for his work in "Cool Hand Luke" and wouldn't shrug off another nomination, but he's not obsessed with a craving for an Oscar.

"That's for young people," he says, and then, thinking of this year's winners, laughs.

"The winners certainly deserved their Oscars this year. Have you ever seen Fonda give a bad performance?"

"But I don't dream about an Oscar anymore."

"I dream about getting on a nice boat, not the Love Boat, and taking a long cruise with my beautiful wife."

Adam West concedes that Clayton Moore might not have been right for the title role in the recent Lone Ranger; nor Johnny Weissmuller perfect as Bo Derek's Tarzan.

Nevertheless, he says that he, television's Batman, should continue as the character in a proposed Batman feature film.

"Batman" left prime-time television in 1968, but West claims, "I'm in better condition now than I was when I did the series," and adds, "People who saw someone create a role want him to continue it."

Polygram allegedly has plans to make a Batman picture for theatrical release and though nobody has so far called for West to come over and do a reading, he doesn't think he's out of the running for the key spot in the project.

He thinks such a film would be a hit, despite poor box office performances by "The Legend of the Lone Ranger" and "Flash Gordon."

"As I envision it," he says, "it wouldn't be as silly as the television series, but it would have a lot of wit."

"... Most pictures that are doing well now are fantasies. Right now I'm being considered for a 'Raiders'-type picture."

Meanwhile, waiting for various ventures to materialize, West hasn't been twiddling his thumbs.

He has three films ready for release: "The Game," which he calls a "space mystery," "Time Warp," a comedy according to Adam; and "Rest in Peace," "a gothic terror tale."

He has been a guest star with some regularity on assorted television series, and is host of "What Have You Got To Lose?" a comedy-adventure game show wherein he shares the camera with an orangutan.

The orangutan, C.J., has played sidekick to some of Hollywood's brightest stars (well, maybe "bright" isn't the most applicable word, but anyway...).

Among C.J.'s screen credits are Clint Eastwood's "Any Which Way You Can" and Bo Derek's "Tarzan."

"Working with C.J. is like working with an 8-year-old child," according to West who has worked with jungle creatures before, including an anaconda.

No, he's never been hurt by reptile or beast, not even by accident when one was feeling playful.

C.J., Adams believes, is quite fond of him.

When West isn't acting, he dabbles in real estate with gratifying results and helps tend the family ranch in Washington state.

"I've done pretty well," he thinks. "In Hollywood the attrition gets people, but I'm a survivor."

Survivor or not, he admits, "I'm not pushing the children into acting."

Putterin' Pete

By FRYE

WHEN LIGHTNING COMES, USE COMMON SENSE. AVOID HIGH PLACES, METAL AND WATER. GET INTO A LARGE BUILDING OR YOUR CAR. SHUT WINDOWS. NEVER STAND UNDER A TALL TREE. RUBBER SOLES WON'T HELP. OUTDOORS, STOOP BUT DON'T LIE DOWN - MAINTAIN MINIMUM GROUND CONTACT. LIGHTNING DOES STRIKE TWICE OR MORE, IN THE SAME PLACE. STAY AWAY FROM IT!

ARC FOUNDED

The American Red Cross was founded on May 22, 1881, in Washington, D.C., by Clara Barton.

RETURN WITH US TO...

Phil Harris

THIS WELL-KNOWN BANDLEADER BECAME A MAJOR CHARACTER ON JACK BENNY'S RADIO SHOW AFTER BENNY'S WRITERS WORKED HIM INTO THE SCRIPTS. SO SUCCESSFUL WAS PHIL HARRIS' CHARACTERIZATION OF A LOVABLE EGOMANIAC THAT HE EVENTUALLY GOT HIS OWN SERIES FOR FITCH SHAMPOO.

HARRIS WOULD SAY GOODBYE TO BENNY WITH A BRASH SO LOVS, JACKSON! WHEN LOOKING IN A MIRROR HE INvariably CROWED OX YOU DAWWWS! THERE WERE ALSO JOKES ABOUT HIS DRINKING, OFFSTAGE HE WAS QUITE DIFFERENT... NOT AT ALL BRASH BUT AN AVID SPORTSMAN AND DEDICATED HUSBAND OF ACTRESS ALICE FAYE.

PHIL HARRIS STARTED OUT AS A DRUMMER BEFORE LEADING HIS OWN BAND. XAVIER CUGAT WAS AT ONE TIME A VIOLINIST FOR HIM.

AMONG HIS MOST SUCCESSFUL RECORDINGS AS A SINGER WAS THE SONG THAT CAME TO BE HIS TRADEMARK... "THAT'S WHAT I LIKE ABOUT THE SOUTH."
